Arrangements to Feed 5,000 Persons
at Barbecue Here Sept. 15 Will be Out of Ordinary

FESTIVITIES TO START AT 9

It Far Famed "Burgoo" Man Can
Not Come, One of His Lieuten-
ants Will be in Charge

Although it is not determined yet that N. D. Lawrence, the famous "burgoo" man of Lexington, Kentucky, can take charge of the sixth district Republican barbecue here Wednesday September 15, if he is not present some one of his lieutenants will be.

The chairman of the ox roast with Mr. Lawrence but no definite word has been received. It is recognized that the committee will have to get an authority on such subjects in order to feed the crowd of five thousand people that is expected. The more optimistic are placing the figures higher since reports have been coming in concerning the interest that has been shown since the announcement of the meeting.

It was impossible for the executive committee to announce the personnel of the various committees today because the committees are not all arranged yet.

The vice-presidents will consist of the Republican county chairmen of the district and the reception committee will consist of at least one hundred Republicans of the county who will be assigned to meet the various trains and traction cars and escort the visitors to the city park.

The meeting will afford a fine opportunity for the Republicans of the sixth district to look over the candidates for state office and take their choice. The next election will be more like two elections than any ever held in Indiana.

The new direct primary law will be in operation for the first time. The parties will vote next March to decide who shall be their candidates. It is well worth the time of Republicans to get acquainted with their candidates for the many nominations on the state ticket.

The ox roast committee realizes that it will be no small task to feed five thousand persons. For that reason it will be necessary to call on outside assistance—a person who is trained to attend to such affairs.

To cause this part of the arrangements to run off smoothly, it was deemed the wisest plan to procure the "burgoo" man if possible.

It is realized that to watch the preparations to feed five thousand people will be a sight very much out of the ordinary. For this reason the committee on publicity and advertising is advertising the fact that the festivities will start at nine o'clock and that the crowd should be on hand to see how it is done.

Two head of cattle will be necessary to feed the throng it is estimated. The committee is now considering the proposition of purchasing the cattle and arranging to have them butchered.

SEEKS PAYMENT FOR STONE

Greely Stone Co. Brings Action
Against D. J. Bush and Bondsman.

The Greely Stone Company has filed suit against Denny J. Bush and the Equitable Surety company on a contract and bond, demanding $1,600. According to the complaint, Bush had the contract for the building of a street in the town of Beech Grove, Indiana, two years ago, and purchased the stone for the street from the Greely company, of St. Paul. It is alleged that the stone has never been paid for and Bush and his bondsman, the Equitable Surety company, are made defendants to collect the amount.

Seventy-Five Years.

BURIAL TAKES PLACE HERE

Mrs. Sarah Guire, 75 years old, a well-known resident of this city, widow of the late Joseph Guire, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Snyder, in Liberty, Ind. Mrs. Guire had been ill for some time and death was not unexpected. She had been at the home of her daughter for the past few months. Death was due to a complication of diseases. She is survived by four children, Jesse Guire of this city, Mrs. Owen Cowling of Brookville, Mrs. Ida Welch of Richmond and Mrs. Snyder of Liberty. She is also survived by one sister, Miss Mary Jones, of Madison and one brother, William Jones, of Fairfield, Franklin county.

The services will be held tomorrow morning in Liberty and the remains will be brought here on the 10:50 C. H. & D. train and taken directly to East Hill cemetery where burial will take place.

DISCUSSES PEACE WITH PRESIDENT

Cardinal Gibbons Calls on Wilson
Today But Refuses to Detail
The Convention.

WILL MEET LANSING ALSO

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 2.—After his white house conference today, Cardinal Gibbons said he had discussed peace with the president. He declined to give the details of the discussion but admitted he had received a message from the pope. The cardinal expressed gratification to the president over the result of the late diplomatic controversy with Germany.

"My conference with the president was very satisfactory," said the cardinal. "I hope within a short time to formulate a proper expression of the meeting."

"I expect to take up with Mr. Lansing a similar line of discussion," the cardinal said.

"Do you consider Germany's recent action agreeing to a modified submarine warfare as unfavorable to a European peace?" another questioner asked.

"Highly favorable," said the cardinal, "and it makes the situation much more easy of accomplishment in our efforts to bring about peace."

AUGUST SETS A NEW WET RECORD

County Weather Observer's Record
Shows More Rain Fell Than in
Any Time in 35 Years.

9.64 INCHES OF RAINFALL

Farmers Will be Pleased if Weather
Man Holds Stop Just Where it is Right Now.

If the weather man hold the stop where it is now, there will be a lot of satisfied farmers in Rush county, even though he did damage the wheat crop with too much rain.

The dry, hot weather is what the farmers need to bring the corn crop out of the kinks, they say. The weather has been ideal for a few days and the forecast is for fair and continued warm weather.

It is generally felt that this section of the country is due for some observations for Rush county, more dry weather following the "deluge" of August. According to the records of Elwood Kirkwood, who makes observations for Rush county more rain fell last month than in any other August since the records have been taken in Rush county. In other words, it was the wettest August in thirty-five years.

His records show that 9.64 inches of rain fell last month. It was not only the heaviest rainfall in thirty-five years for the month of August, but it was almost twice as great as any previous record. In only two years during the thirty-five did the rainfall exceed 5.75 inches. They were in August, 1905, when the rainfall was 7.44 inches and in 1886, when it measured 7.31 inches.

The temperatures for the last few days have been seasonable. The mercury has been up to eighty during the middle of the day, but the nights have been cool. Fall hats, furs and other fall toggery are not so much in demand as they were last week.

Dispatches from Washington today indicated that continued wet weather, which has delayed harvesting, may change the government's preliminary estimate of the production of this year's winter wheat crop. Forecast August 9 at 659,000,000. Crop reporters in eleven states where rain has caused delay are making additional inquiries in connection with the September crop condition canvass as to the extent of damage to winter wheat. The September report is issued next Wednesday a revised preliminary estimate may be necessary.

Farmers are generally agreed that it might be worse. They recall sixteen years ago this fall when the corn crop was burnt to a crisp. Practically three-fourths of the corn crop was burnt up by the sun's rays. That year the prospects for a good corn yield were bright, but the heat changed all the prospects.

It was recalled that sixteen years ago this September the corn crop was not the only thing affected by the heat. Business was curtailed and the oppressive heat caused much sickness.

CO-OPERATION IS NOT INTENDED

Governor Ralston Says Historical
Commission is Not Working With National Patriotic League.

CONTRADICTS MAYOR WATKINS

Newcastle Executive Here Wednesday Represented Two Organizations Were Working Together.

In direct contradiction to what Mayor Leb Watkins of Newcastle, field agent of the National Patriotic League, said in Rushville Wednesday, Governor Ralston has issued a proclamation to let it be known the Indiana Historical Commission is not co-operating with the league and repudiates any arrangements the league may have made toward celebrating the centennial in Indiana in 1916.

Mayor Watkins came here Wednesday to arrange with Mayor C. L. Bebout for a date when a local celebration could be held. He prevailed upon the mayor to select a committee of three to assist the representative of the National Patriotic League in carrying out the local plans. It was said by him to be a part of the plans to select some historical data from this county to be inserted in the state motion pictures, all of which would be shown at the proposed celebration here.

Mayor Watkins represented the relations between the organization he represents and the Indiana Historical Commission to be the very best. He told of a recent conference with the governor at which the field representatives of the National Patriotic League were present. At that conference the governor was reported by Mayor Watkins to have stated that the league he represented could go ahead and co-operate with the Indiana commission, which was created by an act of the last legislature.

According to stories in Indianapolis newspapers, the National Patriotic League has been attempting to combine its exhibit with the local celebration of the centennial in several cities, but no such effort was made by Mayor Watkins here, it is stated, even though he said that the two events might be combined.

"I have been informed," says the governor's statement, "I believe creditably that certain persons claiming to represent an organization, named the National Patriotic League, have visited many counties in this state in the alleged interest of the Indiana centennial celebration of 1916; that they have represented their organization and themselves as having an official relation with the Indiana historical commission created by law, and have claimed to be authorized by the body to enter upon a general plan of promotion and exploitation of said centennial through the state; that they have under such pretended authority visited several of the county seats of the state, and have induced a number of the mayors of such county seats to issue proclamations fixing certain days in 1916 for the celebration of said centennial in such cities and counties."

"Now, therefore, as Governor of the state of Indiana, and as the president of the Indiana historical commission, I declare that the said National Patriotic League has no connection whatever with the duty organized Indiana historical commission; and that any claim of such connection or authority by said league, or by any person or persons representing that or any other organization in such work, is wholly false and unfounded; and I hereby

CYCLONES CAUSE LOSSES

Great Damage is Done in Central
and Northwest Manitoba Today.

(By United Press.)

Winnipeg, Canada, Sept. 2.—Cyclones did great damage in central and northwestern Manitoba today. Fields were swept bare of stocks of hay and grain. Houses and outbuildings were blown over and horses and cattle were killed or driven into forest res to perish. The bridge at Uno, on the Grand Trunk Pacific, was blown away and a train went through, the engineer being killed. Miles of telephone and telegraph wires are down and information is meagre.

RUSSIAN ARMIES ESCAPE A TRAP

Petrograd Asserts Austrian Plan to Cut Off Enemy in Galicia
Has Broken Down

SLAV FRONT IS UNBROKEN

(By United Press.)

Petrograd, Sept. 2.—General Ivanoff's armies have escaped the latest trap set by the Austro-Germans. The fortress of Lusk has been evacuated by the Russians with scarcely any loss in men or guns and the Slavs falling back in the direction of Dubno fortress they have taken 10,000 prisoners.

The Austrian plan to pierce the Russian line in this region, roll up the right flank of General Ivanoff's forces and cut off the Russian army corps operating in Galicia has broken down. The enemy has made no material gains, but has suffered heavily in killed and captured. The Slav line already has been reformed.

Half a million Austro-Germans are now engaged in the attempt to sweep the Russians out of Galicia but despite their most determined efforts supported by heavy shell fire the enemy has been unable to break the Slav front.

FRANK KUNTZ IS DEAD NEAR MANILLA

Young Man Expires of Yellow Jaundice and Pneumonia After Recovering From Appendicitis.

SON OF LATE PETER KUNTZ

Frank Kuntz, 18 years old, died yesterday at the home of his mother, Mrs. Aurice Kuntz, two and one-half miles northeast of Manilla, after a several weeks' illness from pneumonia and yellow jaundice. He was first taken ill with appendicitis and after recovering from this contracted pneumonia and then yellow jaundice developed.

He was well known in this and Shelby county and was a son of the late Peter Kuntz. He is survived by his mother, one half-brother and one half-sister, Dale Brooks of near Manilla and Mrs. William Cawein, who lives with Mrs. Kuntz. The funeral services will be conducted Friday morning at nine o'clock in the St. Paul Catholic church, Shelbyville, and burial will take place in the Catholic cemetery there.

Elder C. W. Radcliff of Connersville will preach at the Primitive Baptist church, Friday evening at 7:30.

WANTS PEACE ON ITS OWN TERMS

Germany's Proposition is For Freedom of Seas, Freedom of Poland and Rights of Jews Recognized.

MEMORANDUM PURPOSE SEEN

Believed Kaiser Met Demands to End list American Co-operation to End the War.

BY CHARLES P. STEWART.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, Sept. 2.—Germany wants peace, on these terms: Freedom of the seas, Freedom for Poland.

World wide recognition of the rights of Jews.

The kaiser's prime purpose in the memorandum his ambassador filed with the state department Wednesday was the enlistment of American co-operation in ending the war in Europe.

This information was given out from the German embassy in Washington today. It was no official but it was authoritative.

The state department expected from Germany a more detailed statement that the memorandum on the subject of submarine warfare.

The memorandum, it was said, was regular and eminently satisfactory but rather informal. The assumption is that a fuller message was being prepared.

Probably, said officials the memorandum was hastened forward ahead of the formal communication for the purpose of preventing delay in explanations concerning the Arabic from reading anti-German news in the United States.

No doubt was felt that the message would be acceptable as was the memorandum it preceded.

An Arabic explanation would have to come first however, it was said.

WONDER WORKERS

In the past there have been numerous Wonder Workers and miracles performed. In this present age there has been no wonder worker equal to Wolcott's Little Wonder Workers. For that tired feeling and run-down condition due to torpid liver and constipation which causes stomach trouble, jaundice, gall stones, nervous trouble, kidney difficulties, etc., they certainly work wonders. Easy to take because so small and besides one or two at a dose will act gently but freely without gripe and will not get you out of bed too early in the morning. Mr. Wolcott is sending these Little Wonder Workers all over the United States, only through the recommendations of those who have used them, as he has never spent any money advertising them up to this time. He wants more to know of their wonder working power, and will cheerfully refund the money if not more than satisfied with their work. 40 doses for 25 cents at Wolcott's Drug Store. 14516

BRITISH ARMY OF NEXT YEAR MAY BE ARMORED.

BY WILBUR S. FORREST.

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

London, Aug. 14 (By Mail).—The 1916 British army may be an armored army.

The great casualty list that filters through the war office every day from the front; the convalescent wounded and battered soldiers that are always on the streets and the overflying hospitals are beginning to have their effect.

Many ask: "Isn't there a way to minimize this appalling situation?" Somebody has answered: "Armor."

And it's beginning to look like armor for the British soldiers of 1916.

While the British war office is considered whether it shall slip back to medieval methods of warfare so far as the protection of the soldier is concerned, well known Britishers are telling the war office through the press that armor is a natural necessity in these days of machine guns and high-powered rifles.

Scores of suggestions for modern 1916 armor emanating from scientists have narrowed down to the practicability of a three piece suit of tempered steel that would protect the forehead, breast and abdomen—the three vital spots of the body. The favored headpiece, will, if authorized by the war office, take the form of the highly tempered steel skull cap-like protector now worn by the French to minimize the danger of shrapnel. The breastplate would be a thin leather covered hardened plate of steel carved to fit over the chest and held by straps that go over the shoulders and around the waist. The abdominal protector is suggested in the form of another curved sheet of steel fitting over the lower ribs and extending down to the bones of the hips.

The British war office four years ago experimented with a bullet proof breadplate at Aldershot where the device shed all the rifle and machine gun bullets that were fired against it at ranges of one foot to five hundred yards. The breastplate was rejected on the ground that it added too much weight to the equipment of the soldier and reduced his marching efficiency.

With a war of great proportions that will probably last many more months or perhaps years and with the thousands of dead and the tens of thousands of wounded, the war office is believed to be reconsidering its objection to armor.

The men of the trenches at least probably will be thus equipped, according to information today.

One of Britain's leading advocates of armor is Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, the noted author of "Sherlock Holmes."

In a lengthy message from his home at Windlesham, Crowborough, Sussex, to a London daily, Sir Arthur cited an action of the British in Northern France on May 9, when several brigades were decimated in an effort to rush across 300 yards intervening between the British and German trenches. He warned:

"You must either abandon such attacks or you must find artificial protection for the men."

Sir Arthur suggests three-piece suits of steel plates for the soldiers, but goes further in advocating a modern "estudo"—a cover used by the Roman soldiers in attacking a wall, formed by overlapping their oblong shields above their heads. Sir Arthur's modern estudo, he would put on wheels to cover the men as they charge the German trenches. He says:

"These numerous armor plated bodies could rush with small loss over a space which had already been cleared as far as possible of obstacles, and so have some chance of reaching the enemy's line, not as an exhausted fragment but as a vigorous storming party with numbers intact. Such apparatus would not necessitate a great addition to the impedimenta of an army. It would be a separate item, like pontoons or the siege train, only to be brought up on special occasions to the point where it is needed for the assault. The vital body plates, however, should be used in the every day equipment of a fighting soldier."

Armored shields on wheels such as Conan Doyle suggests, were used by the United States infantry during the last days of the Spanish American war in Cuba, according to an English authority on armor. They were invented by General Roy Stone, of the British army. Each shield lay horizontally and carried the impedimenta of marching soldiers when not placed vertically for sterner use.

Due to the rough character of the ground and the predominance of mounted forces in the Cuban campaign, the American experiment, was a failure, it was stated.

Whether the government will accept the "estudo" is uncertain, but it is strongly whispered that armor will have to do with British armies of the coming year.

True Secret of Keeping Youthful Looking

(The Beauty Seeker.)

"The real secret of keeping young-looking and beautiful," says a well-known hygienist, "is to keep the liver and bowels normally active. Without these requisites, poisonous waste products remain in the system, polluting the blood and lodging in various organs, tissues, joints. One becomes flabby, obese, nervous, mentally sluggish, dull-eyed, wrinkled and sad of face."

"But to get liver and bowels working as they ought, without producing evil after-effects, is no mean problem. Fortunately, there is a prescription of unquestioned merit, which may now be had in convenient tablet form. Its value is due largely to an ingredient derived from the humble May apple, or its root, which has been called 'vegetable calomel' because of its effectiveness—though of course it is not to be classed with the real calomel of mercurial origin. There is no habit-forming constituent in 'sentinel tablets'—that's the name—and there is no harmfulness in its use. It is a very simple remedy, to be found in any drug store, which is as effective as it is harmless and quick acting. It is an old formula, long recognized by the medical profession, which has been put in tablet form, and at such small cost no one need now be deprived of its wonderful benefits."

Chief Cause of Pimples, Blotches, Sallow Skin

(Messenger of Health.)

Unpleasant eruptions, pimples, boils, blotches, sallow or muddy skin, usually are due to a sluggish liver, a constipated bowel—and a polluted blood stream as a consequence. How foolish in such cases to resort to outward applications, which can never have natural, permanent results. If more people only knew, there is a very simple remedy, to be found in any drug store, which is as effective as it is harmless and quick acting. It is an old formula, long recognized by the medical profession, which has been put in tablet form, and at such small cost no one need now be deprived of its wonderful benefits. "Sentinel tablets"—that's the name—are entirely vegetable and there's no habit-forming ingredient. You need only get about a dime's worth, and swallow it at bedtime to realize there's nothing else quite so good for the purpose. The action in the morning is so easy, so soothing, and leaves the complexion so clear and fresh, you feel truly refreshed and invigorated. Sentinel tablets are not only the most readily known remedy for constipation and torpid liver, but offer the simplest, most sensible treatment for complexion difficulties of the character mentioned.

Great Demand for New Constipation Remedy

They say that the advent of the "sentinel tablet" as a vegetable substitute for calomel has resulted in an extraordinary demand for this remarkable product. It seems to have been a hit particularly with those afflicted with chronic constipation, who were quick to recognize its advantages over calomel and the usual laxatives.

Sentinel tablets, aside from their efficiency, doubtless owe their success largely to a tendency to aid in bringing about natural functioning—instead of encouraging the "cathartic habit." Also, instead of injuring the membranous lining of the organs involved, they exert a healing influence. Instead of weakening the body, they add tone to the intestinal wall. And they work so easily and gently, they are of course preferred on this account to the violently acting purgatives. Their inexpressiveness is another reason for the popularity of sentinel tablets. One need procure only a dime's worth, and take one tablet upon retiring, to be convinced that the ideal remedy for constipation, torpid liver, and many other evil consequences, has finally been found—Druggists review.

Amusements

The Princess will show four reels for tonight. The first picture is a Charles Chaplin comedy in two reels entitled "A Woman." It is said to be a great comedy and the famous comedian is seen at his best. The other picture is entitled "Braga's Double." Miss Nell Craig and Sheldon Lewis are featured. Lewis plays a double part in this picture. Tomorrow night the three act drama "A Dignified Family" will be shown.

The Gem will show the three act circus drama "Circus Mary" for the program tonight. Mary Fuller is featured. It is said to be a thrilling drama and many of the scenes were taken at a real circus. Tomorrow night the fourth adventure of "Under the Crescent" will be shown. This episode is entitled "For the Honor of a Woman," and as usual Princess Hassan is featured.

In history of New York Winter Garden spectacles that have played in New York and Chicago in the past none have taken such a hold on public fancy as has "Maid in America," which comes to the Shubert Murat theatre for a State Fair week engagement beginning next Monday afternoon with Labor Day matinee. This huge cyclonic revue struck Chicago harder than any entertainment ever did before and for sixteen weeks it smashed all records for attendance and receipts. The cast which will be seen locally is the original one and is second to none in the way of entertainers. There is Florence Moore, the inimitable comedienne, known as the "Female Al Jolson," Mlle Dazie, most famous of all American dancers and pantomimists, Minerva Coverdale, the dainty soubrette who has set thousands of hearts agog on both sides of the Atlantic, Swor and Mack, unique black face comedians in their quaint drolleries, Sam Adams who has long headlined leading vaudeville bills, Rita Gould, a proud and haughty Broadway beauty, whose specialty is the rendition of song hits, Louise Mink, a statuesque prima donna who has many musical comedy honors to her credit, Coogan and Cox, eccentric dancers extraordinary, Will Stanton, whose comic efforts rival those of Charlie Chaplin, and many others of equal prominence. The comely chorus is typical of all Winter Garden shows, the handsomest and most shapely the country can produce; and they are in great numbers and great profusion. Seats are now selling.

NEW YORK FASHION NOTES.

BY MARGARET MASON.
(Written for United Press.)

Oh you metallurgic maid
You've a heart of gold I ween
And the glory of your hair
Has a burnished copper sheen
Cloth of gold and silver gauze
Fashion's fabrics for the fall
Trim your garments everyone
Frocks and hats and wraps withal
Silver threads among the gold
Means naught old—it's very new
You are on your mettle, dear,
And much metal is on you.

New York, Sept. 2.—The Fall fashions are simply metalliferous if you ask me. Mere husbands are used to the alchemy that turns their perfectly good gold and silver into frills and furbelows for fair sex but now and to behold, frills and furbelows are turned into gold and silver. In the early showing of Fall models there is hardly a silver embroidery, or a twist and fold of lustrous metallic gauze about it somewhere.

For evening gowns the metallic materials are most effective, especially the gorgeous brocades of old blue and gold, silver and old rose and many wonderful combinations. They look like products of the looms of romance and seem to give the lie to the broad hint that pastel tints would be the only things in the color line for the coming season. These magnificent metalline materials are naturally made up on the simplest straight lines, depending solely on their own beauty for adornment.

The princess lines that are already casting their graceful shadows before are perfect when carried out in these fantastic fabrics. The straight hung medieval effects are also good. Obviously these gorgeous garments are to be worn only by the most stately and Amazonian of the sex but let not the petite and clinging vine despair. She may metallize as well by touching up a frothy frock of net with high lights of gold or silver gauze.

Such a fascinating confection is an evening gown of white tulle. The multilayered skirt has its inner layer bound around its ankle length with a fold of silver gauze while the shorter outer layer is caught up in kirtle effect on each side with a cluster of silver gauze garlands. The bodice consists of a wisp of tulle over each shoulder, a wide girdle of the silver and a spray of the silver blooms at the corsage. A more delectable costume were hard to imagine unless it be a vision of blush rose tulle whose fluffy skirt is caught high up on the left side with long loops of purple velvet ribbon over a petticoat of golden gauze. A wide girdle of the gold is held in its proper place by a fluff of the tulle over one shoulder and a band of the purple over the other.

Embroidery in gold and silver threads and steel and copper beads is another favorite method of transmuting metals into garments and indeed a most striking one in connection with the lustrous velvets that are to be made for Fall and winter wear. Cunning little velvet hats like the bell crowned beavers of the beauty of old have huge made buckles of gold or silver gauze and hat bands of the same. Flat velvet shapes in black or purple with wreaths of bright colored yarn flowers with gold and silver fruits are a dazzle of gorgeousness. They are simply bound to go to your head. Most of them are bound in metalline material, too.

The elaborate afternoon gowns and suits for Autumn are almost invariably shown in redingete or full skirted Russian coat models with wide bands of gold or silver picked out on the velvet or satin of the principle fabric. Velvet in combination with broadcloth, serge, satin or chiffon forms all the smartest suits

Bethlehem, N. H., Sept. 2.—The United States Hay Fever Association met in its forty-second annual convention here today, hoping the air of the White Mountains would make possible sessions not too constantly interrupted by sneezing. The hope was realized only to a small degree. Most of the delegates had their sneezes with them and snuz right through the most interesting speeches. Dr. R. Kendrick Smith, of Boston, osteopath, told how to eradicate the fever by massage. He argued that the pollen theory has been disproved, that the fact his hearers sneezed while spoke, through the air was free of dust and pollen made the theory untenable.

Effect on Prices

In the United States Senate, on June 5th, 1914, during a discussion on the results of the Underwood tariff bill, a colloquy was held between two leading senators as to whether the retail price of men's clothing has been reduced as a result of the reduced tariff on wool. In response to the statement by the Republican senator that he had been unable to obtain any reduction in his tailor-made clothes, the Democratic senator said:

"If the senator will just join the holy army of men that God created with such perfection of physical form that they may be fitted at a ready-made clothing store, the Senator will find that goods are cheaper."

As this statement was made in Washington, and therefore evidently referred to Washington prices, correspondent at the capital has made an investigation. Five prominent dealers in standard makes of men's clothing—makes which have a national reputation—were asked if there has been any reduction in the price of ready-made men's clothing in the last three years.

They all said that they had to pay as much now for their clothing as before the Underwood Tariff bill went into effect, hence had to charge the consumer as much now as before. The tariff reduction; one said that the cloth is a little better, he thought. Another said that the cloth is no better, but that the reduction in tariff is made up for by a little better workmanship, such as tailoring and finishing. Two said that the cloth is about the same now as then in the $20 to $25 suits, and that the clothes for which these prices are paid today will not give one better satisfaction or better service than suits bought at the same prices before the Underwood tariff became effective.

The fifth dealer said that he is doing a business of over $100,000 annually in a standard brand of clothing and that, while the prices have not been lowered, he thought the cloth used inferior now because of the scarcity of wool. Many of the wool growers, anticipating the tariff reductions had sold their sheep and many of the sheep have been used for mutton, which has decreased the number of sheep by about nine million head. All but one of the dealers said that they had noticed that the consumer had much more money to spend before the Democratic tariff became effective.

The cloth used in a suit of clothes costing at retail $40.00 or $50 does not cost over $5.00 and very probably it costs less. There is hardly a cloth used which costs over $1.00 per yard, especially of the kind used in the average-priced suit retailing from $20 to $25. Suppose that the price of this cloth were reduced 10 per cent—which would be a very great reduction—this could not reduce the retail price of the suit more than 35 per cent. With this reduction, a $25 suit could be sold for $24.65 if the consumer were given full benefit. But our investigation has shown that there has been no actual reduction.

The claim of the Democratic senator, quoted above, is therefore wide of the mark and must have been made merely for political effect. The Underwood tariff bill has utterly failed in its purpose with respect to this commodity, and there is no doubt that the same test may be successfully applied to other necessities.

It is very fortunate that the question of who should succeed Frank Sullivan, deceased, as nightwatchman has been settled satisfactorily to everyone. The means adopted was the right course to pursue as it gave those who should have the right to determine the question the privilege of voting their sentiments.

By the same token the Democratic party is the party of free trade or it is nothing. It may hide behind the subterfuge of "tariff-for-revenue-only," but even that is not the correct, judging by the growing deficit.

"The republican party is the party of protectionism or it is nothing,"—Henry Watterson in the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Current Comments

Mexico Lynching
(Philadelphia Ledger)

Leo Frank, ill and defenseless, was torn from his prison cot early Tuesday morning and murdered by a band of Georgia ruffians. With one voice press and public expressed their horror and indignation while the Governor of Georgia pledged the authority of his office to punish the foul crime. But why is the voice of America, aroused over this isolated piece of brutality, silent on Mexico, where thousands have suffered as Leo Frank suffered, and without even the semblance of a trial? The command, "Thou shalt not kill," was the only one broken in the Frank lynching; in Mexico, under the sway of Carranza and Villa, the whole decalogue is violated, and instead of American protests there are actually American help and encouragement for the tyrants who have burned, robbed and murdered.

The character of the red-handed Villa appears again in a glaring light in news dispatches telling how he put to death twenty-two civil and military officers last Sunday in Chihuahua, and yet this precious villian is honored by the Wilson administration to the extent that a backstairs diplomat, styled a confidential agent of the State Department, is accredited to his savage court and is known throughout Mexico as the bosom friend and adviser of the robber chief. A similar agent represents this country at the headquarters of Carranza, and this whole system of underground negotiation and irregular representation constitutes the Wilson-Bryan contribution to the diplomacy of a nation which has fallen from the great days of Blaine, Olney and John Hay.

Polished phrases fall readily from Presidential lips, but it will take more than rhetoric and A. B. C. conferences to set straight and Administration record in its dealings with our Southern neighbor. The strength which enabled the wreckers to wound Mexico unto death was drawn from this side of the Rio Grande, and it is our shame that the hand of encouragement was extended by men whose lips were uttering inane formulas for peace, world wide and everlasting Mexican refugees through America's threshold—poor peons, who pray for a bite to eat in security; educated men of the higher classes, who can and do recount in terse phrases how their country has been ruined by American meddling; energetic men, who ask nothing but the chance to work in Mexico, as they once did, with a reasonable assurance that life and liberty will be protected.

HOOSIER HISTORY

(Prepared for the United Press by the Indiana Historical Commission)

The Passing of The Steamboat

"For ten long years the struggle between railroads and the steamboats went on. Millions of dollars were invested in the great white vessels that glided up and down the rivers, but they dropped out of the race and became the sport of time. Some far-seeing owners knowing the fight lost for all time, dismantled their vessels. Others more obstinate kept their boats trim and clean. Through the long idle summers they would sit in pilot house watching the railroad write in letters of smoke against the sky, the story of their doom. The hungry race for cargoes was responsible for more than one river tragedy. The wind seemed to carry the news of a waiting shipmen and the idle boats raced to the scene like a school of sharks."

Mrs. Mary Doyle has filed suit for divorce from William F. Doyle, alleging cruel and inhuman treatment and abandonment. The complaint states that he had a violent temper and during the spells of anger would call her vile epithets. Mrs. Doyle also alleges that he failed to support her and her child and at the time of the separation he wholly abandoned her. The complaint states that they were married on August 2, 1911 and separated February 18, 1915.

The complaint states that he has been employed in Chicago, but his present whereabouts are unknown to the plaintiff. Mrs. Doyle asks for the custody of the child and $300 alimony. She also asks $5 a week support money for the child.

Providence, R. I. Sept. 2.—Mrs. Elizabeth Moore, accused by three negroes of having planned the murder of her husband and the girl she believed had won his love, not only agreed to pay $5,000 when the crime was committed, but provided the negroes with a motorcycle to follow Dr. Moore, they declared in a statement to the police this afternoon.

Mrs. Moore, who is under arrest, denied the new statements. The whole charge she declared through her attorneys was "ridiculous."

LET HIM GO FIGHT.
(Kokomo Tribune.)

Some citizens of Milwaukee who seem to be pretty good Americans, of German descent, have played a practical joke on Colonel Roosevelt. They propose to make it comparatively easy for him to get into the European war instantly, if he chooses to accept an offer made by Charles Mechel in a letter addressed to Oyster Bay Friday. "We see by the papers that you are spoiling for a fight with the Germans," says Mechel's letter. "Most Americans prefer to attend to their own business. Therefore, representing a small coterie of local men, we have subscribed $250. I am instructed to tender you this amount to defray your expenses to enable you to join Canadians who are going over to France. This will give you the time of your life."

INTERESTED IN THE SPECIAL DAY

Disease Prevention Day is Being Boosted by The Indiana Mayors Association

EXECUTIVES GET A LETTER

They Are Urged to Lead Fight to Rid State of That Preventable Disease, Tuberculosis.

Indianapolis, Sept. 2.—Indiana mayors are taking an unusual interest in this year's plans for the observance of Disease Prevention Day. The following letter has been sent to the chief executive of each Indiana city by A. C. Sallee, Secretary of the Indiana Mayors' Association:

"Indiana gained nation wide recognition and commendation last year by its observance of Disease Prevention Day. Hundreds of Hoosier communities, in many instances led by the mayor, staged notable demonstrations on that day, as a part of the general movement to arouse their people to the truth of the old saying, 'An Ounce of Prevention is Worth Pounds of Cure.'"

"In view of the fact that almost 9,000 Indiana men, women and children die each year from preventable diseases, a tragedy which touches every Indiana city and town bringing it not only a loss of life, but throwing on the community the cost of supporting many helpless citizens it occurred to me that every mayor in this state would desire to forward this movement."

"It is a thing to reflect great credit on those who take part. As we understand the proposition upon reading Governor Ralston's proclamation, which, in accordance with a resolution passed by the last legislature, fixes Friday, October 1st as Disease Prevention Day, the carrying out of the plan is very simple and easy from the standpoint of any city's chief executive."

"A proclamation from you, supplementing the one from the Governor, the appointment of committees on decorations, parade, floats, talks in the schools on the day in question, and perhaps as city wide effort to have all garbage and other trash removed in advance, the securing of helpful publicity from the newspapers is all that is necessary to put the proposition under way."

"Don't you think it would be good policy from a public welfare standpoint, for you to take the initiative in your city? Please tell me what you think of this proposition and advise me if I can do anything to help you make it a success."

UP-TO-NOW IN DESIGN

Designs as shown by some firms are more or less freakish or fadish to attract the attention of the prospective customers with scarcely a thought of their wearing appearance or correctness in proportion. But then they are merely on paper and represent but a small loss if they don't take.

We have faith in our ability as rational designers and as proof we show at our works a most complete selection of ready to erect monuments designed by our nationally recognized designer.

RUSHERS TACKLE GREENSBURG TEAM

Ironclads Coming Back For Game

This Sunday—Fully Expect to Beat Rushville Team.

LINEUPS REMAIN UNCHANGED

The Greensburg team will come here again Sunday to meet the Rushers. Rain prevented the game scheduled for last Sunday between the two teams and the fans are anxious for the game to be played this Sunday. Both teams will line-up as they intended to last Sunday. Greensburg is confident of beating Rushville. The Greensburg papers stated that the rain last Sunday was all that saved Rushville from a defeat. This kind of talk shows how confident they are that Rushville will be put out of the running.

Manager Davidson believes that Jack Reiss will be able to stand the Greensburg team on their heads and will start him in the box. The rest of the team will lineup as usual. Humpty Badel, George Rohe and all the rest of the Rushville stars will be in the game.

BOYS JUDGING CONTEST OPENS

Entries May be Made Any Time up to 8 a. m. Tuesday Morning, September 7.

FORMERLY CLOSED SEPT. 1

Any Indiana boy between the ages of 16 and 20 years who wishes to enter the Boys Judging Contest at the Indiana State Fair may do so any time until 8:00 a. m. the morning of the contest Sept. 7, 1915. Heretofore, the entry list has been closed on September 1, but the list will be open this year until the day of the contest. Every boy entering the contest must appear in the center of the judging arena in the coliseum between 7:30 and 8:00 o'clock Tuesday, September 7, 1915 ready for work. The first class will be a class of draft horses which will be judged promptly at 8:00 o'clock.

The boy winning this contest receives a scholarship in any of the courses in Agriculture at Purdue University at Lafayette, Indiana, valued at $100.00. The second prize is a scholarship and fourth prize is a $25.00 scholarship. Every boy who expects to enter Purdue School of Agriculture within the next year should enter this contest. The winners get not only cash premiums but also a reputation as judges before they enter college. If you are ambitious and want to make the most of your work at Purdue—this is your first opportunity—grasp it.

LABOR DAY GAME.

NO CHANCE FOR KIDS TOGET LOST

Department is Maintained at Exposition Where All Kiddies Are Restored to Parents

TWO MATRONS IN CHARGE

Several Bushels of "Jewels" Have Been Stolen Off of The Tower of Jewels.

BY FRED S. FERGUSON

San Francisco, Sept. 2.—There is a sort of "kiddies exchange" at the Panama Pacific Exposition. It bears the official title of the Lost and Found Department. Into it come the weeping tots who are found wandering disconsolately alone about the grounds, or are found gazing in wide-eyed wonder upon the big arches or spouting fountains, oblivious to the fact that they are "lost".

There are two matrons on duty whose sole duties are to drive away tears, give assurances that mother or father certainly will be there soon and make the little ones as comfortable as possible. On one of the biggest days of the Exposition 65 youngsters were "lost" between the time the gates opened at 10 o'clock that night. They were picked up by guards in various parts of the grounds, but mostly along the Zone and the Marina where the tots were drinking in the sights with such fervor that they did not notice they were alone in the crowds.

When asked for official figures on the number of "lost" at the Exposition up to mid-August, the Lost and Found Department said 1,112, including children and grown-ups.

"Grown-ups?" "Oh, yes," came the reply, "grown-ups have gotten lost at the Exposition. Of course a majority of those cared for in the Lost and Found Department are children, but often a man or woman becomes separated from a party. Then, they come to the Lost Department, deposit themselves with us and wait for their friends to come for them."

Of the youngsters who have been lost at the Exposition, all have been restored to their parents. The grown-ups who have taken refuge with the Matrons of the Lost and Found Department have either been located by their friends, or growing tired of waiting, have gone away by themselves.

Some prying youngsters playing along the Marina recently wrecked a long standing pastime of guards and messenger boys employed about the Exposition. It was done in absolute innocence, but nevertheless the Exposition guards do not care to hurry to the waterfront when they have an hour or so off.

Along the sides of the Palace of Manufacturers, Education and other buildings on the Marina are thick growths of small trees and green brush. One afternoon while several children were playing on the grass they heard coming from behind the foliage such expressions as, "Come seven! stay Little Joe! now you 'leven!" One little girl spied a guard on duty and ran to him.

"There are some men talking funny behind those bushes," the child informed the khaki clad guardian of Exposition peace. The guard went to investigate the "funny" talk. There was a scattering of boys and men and a full blown crap game was disrupted.

People have been picking "jools" off the Tower of Jewels and the Exposition officials are all worked up over it. This massive tower, which resembles a gigantic wedding cake of several layers, is bedecked on all upper layers with Austrian "novagems." The big "jewels" are inlaid and swung pendant like from every projecting point of the tower, causing it to glitter and sparkle in the sunlight or in the rays of the numerous searchlights played upon it at night. Picking jewels, however, is no business, in the opinion of officials and extra guards are to be placed on duty in the tower.

Although the Exposition crowds in general are not permitted to go up in the Tower, persons who have been taken up have obtained souvenirs by snipping off a jewel here and there. Officials declare if this keeps up the Tower's glitter will soon cease to gild, to say nothing of the fact have been carried away. At this rate that about $100 worth of jewels visitors must have stolen several bushels.

(Greensburg Review.)

The announcement that the Republicans of the Sixth district will hold a big love feast, at which the feature will be an ox roast, in Rushville, Sept. 15, has been received with much interest by local Republicans and a large delegation probably will make the trip to attend the meeting.

The day will be known as "Governor's Day" and all the candidates for Governor are expected to attend. While no definite announcement has been made, it is believed, that James E. Watson will announce himself as a candidate for United States Senator at that time. Speaking will be held in the afternoon.

At any rate the meeting is going to be a big gathering and the committee in charge expects it to eclipse all former events in the way of love feasts. Rushville and Rush county sent a large delegation to this city for the Republican love feast and old Decatur will reciprocate.

Put us down on your visiting list. We'll be there sure, in force.

(Shelbyville Republican.)

It has been arranged for the Republicans of this Congressional district to hold a love feast in Rushville on September 15, the day of the week being Wednesday. The occasion will be known as Governor's Day. There are so many candidates seeking that nomination that the members of the party in this district are anxious to see them line up in order to take a bird's eye view of them. Each and every candidate is a man of sterling qualities and the pity is that all of them can not be nominated—taking merit and worth into consideration alone. Along with the candidates for Governor will be the candidates for the other state offices. The entire lot will make a fine parade in number, quality and appearance. Everybody knows that the election in November, 1916, will be so one-sided that it will be a worthless task to count the votes. Might as well make it unanimous in advance and save the election expense.

At this Congressional meeting will be something to eat. The word has gone out that an ox roast will be a feature. Better make it two. All of Shelby county will be there and the average Shelby countyite is some eater, particularly if this ox has been raised in the blue grass pastures of Rush county and fed on Rush county corn. If you have only one ox, gentlemen, place over there a veal or two and a few spring lambs.

The morning of the day will be given up to a general good time with the dinner at noon. After the repast has been served the candidates for Governor will be given the opportunity to show themselves and to test their voices, the said voices to be heard throughout the state during the next fourteen months. This will be some campaign but the G. O. P. is out to win.

It will be observed that this meeting is to be held in Rushville. Most every person has said that James E. Watson is a candidate for the U. S. Senate but Mr. Watson. Up to date he has kept silent on the subject. Although this district meeting was not arranged for until Tuesday word has gone out that on the day of the rally Mr. Watson will announce his candidacy. The meeting will be in his "home town," affording Mr. Watson all the opportunity required for making the announcement. If he declares he is a candidate for the nomination all the other candidates for the same place will at once recognize that they will have something to do.

In the meantime make up your mind that the meeting will be a great one; that every county in the district will be represented by a large delegation; that there will be plenty to eat and enough speech making to satisfy. Get ready to go to Rushville on Wednesday, September 15.

(Greensburg News.)

Plans have been announced in Rushville for a Sixth District Republican love feast to be held in that city Sept. 15. The day will be known as "Governor's Day," and it is expected that all candidates for Governor as well as for other State offices will attend. A feature of the day will be an ox roast. The event will be held at the city park and arrangements are being perfected to care for a crowd of 5,000. It is expected that James E. Watson will announce his candidacy for United States Senator at this gathering.

AUDITOR IS RESPONSIBLE

Bond Must Back Loans and Interest on School Funds.

A new order from the State Board of Accounts to county auditors of Indiana holds the auditors of a county personally responsible on his official bond for his failure to collect interest on school fund loans when the same is due. In the future all county auditors will be held personally responsible on their bonds for neglect of duty in making safe loans as provided by law. Such auditors will also be held personally responsible on their bonds for failure to collect all delinquent interest on school fund loans within ninety days after such interest becomes due and field examiners will be instructed to make proper charges against all such negligent officials.

CORN OR CASH FOR VOTES

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 1.—To secure funds to carry out their campaign for votes to secure a constitutional amendment, giving women the ballot at the next state wide primary election, the suffrage leaders have issued a call upon every farmer's wife in the state to give a bushel of corn, or its value in cash, to the fund. At the state fair here the suffrage leaders have a corn booth where fair visitors are delivering their corn or agreeing to pay the cash. In every county in the state an agent was named to receive and care for the corn and attend to its sale. Many thousands of bushels of corn are being obtained.

FOND OF PRISON LIFE

St. Cloud, Minn., Sept. 1.—His studied efforts to break into the state reformatory here rewarded, Robert Arnette rests peacefully today. A few weeks ago, he forged three checks and gave himself up to the St. Paul police. His sentence finished, he soon returned to the St. Paul police, demanded his cell back saying he had forged another check. He was accommodated. Then he came back here, voluntarily appeared before the authorities, and insisted he had forged another check, and asked to be sentenced to the state reformatory. He denied he is writing a book on prison reform.

This is one of the first institutions in the United States to enter upon definite work of this character. Etherton comes from the U. S. Department of agriculture where he was a specialist in rural architecture.

CAN CARE FOR 400 IN HOSPITAL

Traveling Conveyance 700 Feet
Long Built by Subscriptions
Solicited by a Woman

16-YEAR-OLD GIRL SENTENCED

Replied to Soldier She Preferred
King Without Country to Emperor Without Honor

BY WILBUR S. FORREST
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)
London, Aug. 18 (By Mail)—The finest traveling hospital in the world is somewhere in France today.

Known as the "Princess Christian Hospital train," it was built from subscriptions solicited by the sister of the late King Edward, who provided a similar equipment, though smaller, during the Boer war.

Every requirement necessary for the care of 400 desperately wounded soldier is provided in eight coaches of the 700 foot conveyance. Six additional carriages provide plunging quarters for the sick and slightly wounded on their way to base hospitals from the front. Several coaches are equipped with beds, a kitchen, lockers, hot and cold water and electric and gas appliances including illumination.

Another affords sleeping accommodations for nurses and doctors while another is a complete operating room. Hundreds of details throughout the moving hospital are supplied from the latest knowledge of hospital and surgical supplies. If necessary it can be sidetracked at an isolated waystation near a battle front and be employed at a stationary hospital.

A joint committee of the leading railways of France and England superintended the construction of the train at Birmingham.

Much has been said of the famous American hospital of Paris but little is known of the "American Hospital of London."

In the Duchess of Connaught's Canadian Red Cross hospital at Clivedon Wood, on the Thames, scores of nurses and 42 doctors from Canadian and American cities care for the Canadian "Indians" as they come wounded and torn from the battlefields across the Channel. There are tennis, golf, billiards, and quarts for the convalescents and the true Canadian idea of food, fresh air and laughter to condition the wounded men again for the ever-raging struggle from which they came. Patients are fed on fresh eggs, plump chickens and jam and biscuits direct from Canada. They are given the open air treatment as soon as possible, and most any day can be found a fleet of roofing beds flanking a football field nearby, where simon pure Canadian football is in order.

The new hospital, which is being enlarged to care for 50 patients, is regarded as a model of hospitals in England. It is equipped with light, airy operating rooms, medical and surgical stores, laboratories and x-ray rooms, embracing all the latest in medical science.

"It makes you homesick for Canada," said one Canadian recruit today. He got it in the leg in France and with two crutches he was playing football, his chief desire being to kick the ball with his injured leg.

Mail advices from Ghent, Belgium, tell that Germans sentenced Countess Dejongh Dardoye, age 16, to three months imprisonment recently.

She was walking in Ghent with her grandmother and both were wearing medals with King Albert's picture. A German officer tore the medals from them, saying: "Away with that King without a country."

The young Countess picked up the medals, and answered hotly: "We Belgians prefer a King without a country to an Emperor without honor."

She was immediately arrested and subsequently sentenced by court martial.

The gallant defense of the Belgians at St. Giles, as shown in the above picture, will find its counterpart during the huge war spectacle, "War in Indiana," to be staged at the Indianapolis motor speedway, Monday September 6, for the building fund of the Indiana national guard. Three batteries of artillery will be in action simultaneously, on attack and defense, illustrating every maneuver of which these highly specialized engines of warfare are capable.

Is Tuberculosis Curable?

Every once in a while people will ask "Do you really think Consumption can be cured?" and then, when they are told that thousands of cases all over the world bear witness to the fact of the curability of this disease, they wonder why their several friends and relatives, who died with tuberculosis, were not cured.

Tuberculosis is curable, but not everyone is cured, and not everyone can be cured. The chief reason why more consumptives are not cured is because they have waited too long before they heeded the warning danger signals of the disease, or because some doctor to whom they went did not recognize this deadly plague. In its early stages, consumption can be cured, and the patient can generally resume his normal life within a period ranging from six months to two years, depending on circumstances. As high a percentage of actual recoveries from tuberculosis may be found in really early cases who follow the right course of treatment as in almost any other infectious disease.

What, then, is the right course of treatment? This article cannot prescribe for individual cases, but it can and will tell what are the essentials in taking the cure for tuberculosis.

First of all, there is a good doctor on whom you can rely and whose advice and inspiration is most valuable to you. He will not give you much medicine, because there isn't and drug or "cure" that he can prescribe that will do more than to relieve some immediate symptoms, such as constipation, cough, headache, etc. If your doctor begins to talk of a "marvelous remedy" which will cure you, it is time you looked for another physician. That man is more than likely a quack and is simply after your money. There is no sure "cure" or remedy for tuberculosis that you can buy at a drug store or that a doctor can give you.

The second essential in the cure of tuberculosis is fresh air. To the healthy person the best tonic is fresh air at work, at play, and during sleep. To the consumptive, however, air is medicine. He must take it in as large doses as he can, the more the better. It may not be easy for one who has been accustomed to indoor work to sleep and live outdoors, but since fresh air is vital, he must accustom himself to being outside all he can. At sanatoria for the treatment of tuberculosis, patients are out of doors on porches or elsewhere almost all the time. If one is at home, he can with a little ingenuity arrange devices for outdoor sleeping and sitting.

The National Tuberculosis Association, 105 East 22d street, New York, will send free of charge to anyone a booklet entitled: "Directions for Living and Sleeping in the Open Air."

The next essential in the cure of tuberculosis is rest. Like fresh air, rest must be taken as a medicine by consumptive. The reason for rest is evident, when you stop to think the way the germs of tuberculosis work. As they destroy the tissues of the lungs or other parts of the body, they make a wound or a cavity. This wound, like a cut on your finger, will not heal if it is being opened all the time. To keep the lungs as quiet as possible, rest in bed, or in a reclining chair is absolutely necessary. The dose of rest you take will depend on your doctor's advice. He will tell you when you can get out of bed and when you can exercise and how much. But first and foremost you must learn to rest, in order to give the lungs a chance to heal.

Besides a good doctor, fresh air and rest, the cure for tuberculosis requires good, wholesome food. In normal health, food of the right kind is very necessary; but in tuberculosis it is doubly important. Food is the fuel which heats the body and gives it its energy or you might almost say "steam." In tuberculosis one must pay special attention to food, because he has to provide fuel not only for the ordinary functions of the body, but he must provide an additional supply to meet the waste and damage done by the germs of the disease. This doesn't mean that you must be continually stuffing yourself, for if you do that you will upset your stomach, bowels, and liver, and you will counteract all the good the food might do. Neither does it mean that you must eat just one or two kinds of food, such as milk and eggs, which some people think are a cure for tuberculosis. They are excellent foods for people who can eat and digest them readily and every consumptive should try to acquire an appetite for them. But meat and potatoes and bread and butter and other vegetables and almost any other nourishing wholesome food in plenty of variety are needed also. Don't rely on tid-bits and sweets, but stoke your body furnace with food-fuel that will keep it running in the best possible order. Your doctor is the best one to advise on foods.

And, finally, a last essential in the cure of tuberculosis may be summed up in these words; "Don't worry." Keep a hopeful state of mind. If you give up and say "It's no use," you will never get well, no matter how patiently you follow the other essentials of a cure. Getting well depends for the most part on you. Backbone, hopefulness and courage will do more for you than all the doctors in the world.

Just a word as to where to take the cure. If you can go to a sanatorium, do so. There are not enough sanatoria for everyone, however. So you may have to stay at home and fight alone. Remember, tuberculosis can be cured if you take it in time and do your part.

OBITUARY

On May 24, 1913, little Orval Leslie, came to bless and brighten the home of Leslie and Clara J. Hinchman.

For the first few months of his life he was of a rather delicate constitution but he soon showed evidence of greater strength and rapidly developed into a sturdy little fellow of a strong constitution and enjoyed the very best of health. True, he had, on a few occasions, some sickness of a few days duration, but on the whole his general characteristics promised a good strong child.

Already plans had been formulated and fond hopes cherished by the loving parents and grand-parents for the future well-fare and development of the little one. The loving mother had looked forward with great anxiety to the time when her little boy would start to school with his little satchel and lunch-basket, and further more when her son would grow into a stalwart young man to take his place among his fellows in this busy world.

But alas, for some great reason which we cannot now understand these fond hopes and desires have all been changed into the deepest sorrow and gloom that it is possible for this world to afford.

On Tuesday night, August 24, little Orval was taken ill. The closest attention was given him from that time on, and while he was real sick, yet no greatly alarming symptoms developed until Saturday morning when a very great turn for the worse was manifest. The disease had attacked the little brain and the very intense fever was rapidly consuming his vitality. The strong little body withstood the heavy onslaughts all the morning hours and until about three o'clock p. m. Saturday, August 28, 1915, his little spirit took its flight and went to dwell with Him who gave it.

How intense the sorrow in this home, which but a few days before was so very happy.

What does it all mean? Has this brief life been spent in vain? Surely not so. In the midst of this grief and anguish can we not glean a message to the living? Where is little Orval today? The blessed Master has said "Suffer the little children to come unto me and forbid them not for of such is the kingdom of Heaven." Who can think but that little Orval is now over there and is calling to Mamma and Papa, to Grand-parents and all of the vast host of loved ones left behind telling them to so live that when they are called to cross the Great Divide they may be able to meet him in that better land where partings never come and where sin and sorrow are unknown.

It is hard to give him up but how sweet to know he is now in the arms of the loving saviour. We know it is hard to see it in this light but help us to say "Not my will but thine be done."

As a cloud of the sunset, slow melting in heaven,

As a star that is lost when the daylight is given,

As a glad dream of slumber that awakens in bliss,

He has passed to the world of the holy from this.

LINCOLN BOOKS NOW IN DEMAND

War Has Created Greater Interest in This Class of Reading—Especially in Europe.

NATIONS LOOK TO AMERICA

German College Professor Says the World is Mad, But United States Alone Remains Cool.

Note—The following is the first of three rather unusual articles by William G. Shepherd. In view of the fact that Shepherd recently returned from the war zone, interesting contrast is possible by him. He calls the series "Discovering America," and divides it into "Discovering America in Europe," "Discovering America in America," and "Discovering the Reason."

By WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD. (U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, Sept. 2.—In wine, it sometimes is said, there is truth. War is intoxicating, and, in the wine of war there is truth. The nations of Europe are drunk with war, their masks are off, you can see them as they really are. Just as a drunken man shows his inner self so do the war-drunk nations of Europe reveal, to the careful observer, their inner thoughts and motives.

The revelations of the war in Europe are not confined to the nations of Europe, but extended to the United States. A man who has been in Europe, knee deep in war, for the past year, and then returns to the United States, sees the land of the stars and stripes in a new light. I have discovered America.

The first discovery was in Europe. In all the truthfulness of their war intoxication, the Europeans showed me the United States as they saw it, and I was ashamed, but proud.

"The United States is the conscience of the world," said a famous German college professor, now the German army censor at Munich. "The world has gone mad, but your land alone is cool and sane and we must look to you, at the finish of this war, to tell us what sanity is."

At the English front, after a lay in the trenches, I sat beside a grate fire in a little hotel a few miles out of shell fire; I didn't want to go to bed, for fear of seeing again, in my sleep, some of the sights I had witnessed during the day. Perhaps the British officers who were sitting around felt the same.

Suddenly one of them spoke. "One of the greatest men this world ever saw," he said, "was Abraham Lincoln. I've read every word I could find about him, and my two little daughters and two little sons know everything about Lincoln that I do."

"Yes," spoke up another British officer. "Do you know, I've heard Lincoln mentioned ever so many times lately. Something in this war, it seems, appears to have turned attention to Lincoln, though I can't tell why. I've just read a book about him and I know ever so many people in London who've done the same. The newspapers keep quoting him all the time, too."

"It's because he was always for the underdog," said the first officer. "He was brave and patient and kind and honest. You know my children love that story about him and the sixpenny pieces he had in an old sock."

"Well what was that?" asked a third officer.

"Well, one time Lincoln kept a grocery shop in a little village and the village postoffice was in a corner of his shop. He had charge of it. One day he failed in business; he tried to make a go of it for months, but down he went. All the citizens of the village thought he was ruined and some of the men, who were his good friends, feared that he had probably used the postoffice money in trying to save his shop. So they collected about forty pounds among themselves—you know everybody who knew Lincoln loved him—and took it to him. 'Here's forty pounds, Abe,' they said, 'We figured that you had lost the postoffice money, too, in the smash, and as soon as the sheriff comes around and finds it out you'll be in trouble.' 'Just wait a minute, boys,' said Lincoln, 'I'll run upstairs and get the postoffice bank and see how I stand.'

"Pretty soon he came downstairs, carrying an old sock, full of coins, six pences and thrupences and pennies and they were the very coins that he had been taking in at the postoffice window during all the hard months."

"Lincoln counted it all out and then he said, 'Thanks, awfully boys, but I don't believe I need a cent of your money.'

"That's the story about Lincoln that my children love the best," concluded the Britisher.

"In London, some weeks later, at several book stores I discovered there had been a growing demand since the war began for books on Lincoln."

DECRIBES WEIRD HAVOC BY GERMAN "PILSENER"

Warsaw, Aug. 8 (By Mail).—"Small arms and bullets are playing no role in the present war. The rifle is the infantryman's toy. The infantryman does not fight. When the big guns have finished the infantryman merely scrambles into the trenches they have won and occupies them."

This is the statement of Surgeon-Major Lesghintseff, who has just returned from the scene of the big battle in Galicia.

Seven-eighths of the wounds are from shells, half of these from big calibre shells and the rest from field howitzers and field guns."

The shell that the Russians most fear is the Skoda 42 centimetre projectile weighing 2500 pounds. They are known to the soldiers at "Pilseners." The normal trajectory of the Skoda gun is 4 1/2 miles high and in soft ground the shells penetrate 20 feet before exploding. The "Pilseners" are howitzer guns and the projectiles except in diameter do not represent the famous Krupp 42 centimetre shells, also used by the Germans.

Describing the effect of a "pilsener" shell, the surgeon said:

"It kills everyone within 150 yards and kills others who are further off. The mere pressure of gas breaks in the partitions and roofs of bombproof shelters. Scores of men, who escape metal fragments, stones and showers of earth, are killed, lacerated or blinded by the pressure of gas. Men who are only a short distance away are torn asunder. Sometimes only the clothes are striped off. Of men close by not a fragment remains the clothes disappear and only small metal articles are found. If the shell is very near the explosion melts rifle barrels as if they were struck by lightning. Men who disappear in such explosion are often reported missing, as there is no proof of their death."

ATTACK THROUGH WIRE ENTANGLEMENTS

The difficult progress of the French troops in the above picture will be reproduced in verisimilitude during the great war spectacle, "War in Indiana," to be held at the Indianapolis motor speedway, Monday, September 6, for the building fund of the Indiana national guard. Great stretches of barbed entanglements have been constructed, through which attacking parties will be forced to hew their way, in the face of a devastating fire from rifles, artillery, and machine guns.

SAYS PEOPLE ARE BEING FOOLED

Secretary of State Claims "War" Promoters Are Pulling Wool Over Eyes of Many

BENEFITS ONLY CAPITOL Indianapolis Merchants Asking State For Support When State Gets Nothing in Return

BY DAN L. BEEBE (U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Indianapolis, Sept. 2.—Charles Downing, secretary of the state board of agriculture in a rapid-fire statement made to the United Press today exposed what he said was a systematic attempt of certain Indianapolis interests to pull the wool over the eyes of the Indiana people while the deftly extracted silver dollars from their pants pockets.

Mr. Downing declared that the "war spectacle" to be staged here co-incidental with the opening of the state fair is practically for the benefit of Indianapolis alone, although the widespread publicity campaign boosting it has advertised it as a state benefit.

"Indianapolis wants an armory for its three national guard companies, and it wants people from other cities who ordinarily attend the opening day of the state fair to pay for this armory," said Downing.

Merchants Criticised

Intimations already have come to the United Press that certain people connected with the state fair were dissatisfied with the attitude Indianapolis business men have displayed in past years toward the fair.

One employee of fair stated that merchants were not satisfied that Indianapolis drew the fair crowd each year, but actually sought to compete with the fair to keep the crowd up-town. Downing was asked how it happened that newspapers all over the state were given more publicity to the "war spectacle" than to the state fair.

"It is simply a case of clever publicity of the free variety," he said. "So far I have been able to learn the Indianapolis Armory association has not paid a cent for newspaper advertising, yet its promoters taking advantage of the military spirit existing, are getting big headlines and columns of free space, especially in Indianapolis."

Pays For Publicity

Downing said that for years the state fair has divided annually $3,500 among 350 state papers for advertising. He told of an editor of a Logansport paper, who, he said, returned some of the stories concerning the "war spectacle" with the statement there must be a "nigger in the woodpile."

The state board secretary was asked whether he knew why the "war spectacle" promoters chose the opening day of the fair—Labor Day—for their "benefits." In answer he turned a gatling gun on Carl Fisher, president of the Motor

Speedway, where the spectacle will be held, and one of the spectacle's chief promoters.

Mr. Fisher thinks the state fair has invaded his rights because we are going to stage night auto races. His former manager, Moross, is working for us and conceived the race idea," said Downing. "Fisher said in a meeting of promoters that the Speedway grounds could be used only if the spectacle was held during fair week. Also they wanted to take advantage of our special railroad and interurban rates."

"War" Benefits Whole State

Backers of the "war in Indiana" show declared today that Mr. Downing was unduly alarmed. They said the spectacle would help the fair by drawing a bigger crowd. They said also that the feature would benefit the entire state because it would arouse interest in the national guard and would supply an armory that would be a state institution. They said money thus raised would prevent a state tax to raise the amount and that other spectacles could be given for the benefit of other counties. They did not explain how these counties could arrange to cooperate with the state fair nor how they could draw a crowd from Indianapolis, in exchange for the money spent here for the local armory. "Whats more, anyone who attends the spectacle will get his money worth," said a promoter.

The state fair has cut its admission fee in half—twenty-five cents for Labor Day. The admission fee for spectacles ranges from $1 upward.

INFECTION IS CARRIED BY HOGS

Have Been Responsible More Than Any Other Animal For Spread of Foot and Mouth Disease.

RECENT OUTBREAK TRACED

Much Crimson Clover Seed is of Poor Quality—Will Enforce Federal Game Laws.

(By United Press.)

Washington, Sept. 2.—Since the first case of foot-and-mouth disease found in a herd of hogs in Michigan, which later permitted the infection of the Chicago Stock Yards, hogs more than any other animal have been responsible for the spread of the disease, says the Department of Agriculture.

The susceptibility of swine to the foot-and-mouth disease and the failure on the part of swine owners to recognize its symptoms are giving a Federal authorities no small amount of worry in their "clean-up" campaign.

Sore mouth, a common indication of the disease, is an ordinary sequence of hog cholera, and confusions on the feet are frequent in swine which have been driven or shipped. For these reasons, little attention is paid by the owners of swine to these symptoms, and unless the head is located within suspicious territory foot and mouth disease may continue in a chronic form for a considerable length of time before discovery. The danger of course lies in the ability of these animals to disseminate the disease.

A recent outbreak in Stenben county, New York, was traced to infected swine, which evidently had had the disease in a mild form for a considerable length of time. Infection had been carried from these to the cattle through drainage.

This emphasizes the need, the authorities state, for continued careful examination for all live stock in previously infected areas, especially large herds of swine. Farmers and stock raisers by giving immediate notice of any suspicious cases to the nearest health officer will greatly aid the authorities in their efforts to eliminate this pest, which if allowed to gain a foothold would result in untold damage to the nation.

Specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture who have been investigating the supply of crimson clover seed report there is apparently a larger supply than in any previous year, but that much of the seed is of poor quality, France and Austria normally supply the greater part of this seed used in the United States. In view of a threatened shortage owing to disturbance of the import trade, seed men, during the year ending June 30, 1915, secured as much seed as they could with the result that 12,000,000 pounds were imported from France as compared with 7,500,000 pounds the year previous. Much seed of poor quality was imported during May and June. Tests with several lots amounting to 1,000,000 pounds showed germination of only 29 per cent. to 62 per cent. Farmers therefore, should make sure of the quality of the seed they buy. Crimson clover seed of a bright greenish yellow color usually germinate well, while a brownish color usually indicates poor germination. Lots containing brown seed should especially be tested for germination.

With the approach of the open season for shooting wild fowl, the United States Department of Agriculture is warning sportsmen that the Federal regulations as amended October 1, 1914, will be strictly enforced.

The Department will consider any recommendations submitted in good faith for amendment of the regulations, but will hold no public hearings thereon, nor will it amend the regulations prior to October 18, 1915. It is the purpose of the Department to conform the regulations to the wishes of the majority of sportsmen so far as it can be done and at the same time give wild fowl the necessary protection.

Federal regulations divide the United States into two zones, Zone No. 1, the breeding zone, includes the States of Oregon, Idaho, Colorado, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey, and all States north of them. Zone No. 2, the wintering zone, includes all States south of those named.

Information as to the seasons during which migratory birds may be hunted can be secured from the State Game Warden or from the Biological Survey, Washington, D. C.

MANY PRIZES WERE OFFERED

(By United Press.)

Noblesville, Ind., Sept. 2.—The men folks of Indiana went without hot meals today while Mary came here to join in the reunion of Hoosier Marys the first ever held.

Marys of high and low degree competed to win prizes for the prettiest Mary, the youngest and oldest Marys, the fattest and slimmest Marys the lightest and heaviest Marys, the newest married Mary and the Mary with the most children. One prize was for the Mary that came the longest distance.

This paralleled the annual reunion of Johns at Eaton, but promised to outshine the Eaton feature in the number present. During the day a number of men made a search for Mary of the "Vine Clad Cottage" but failed to find her.

DECLARE U-BOAT WAS CAPTURED

Officers of Liner Adriatic Assert Submarine Which Sunk Arabic Was Not Sunk as Reported

STORY IS FROM LIVERPOOL

They Suggest That Might be Reason For Hasty Decision to Accede to America's Demands.

(By United Press.)

New York, Sept. 2.—That the German submarine that sank the Arabic was captured, not sunk by British warships, was the story brought here today by an officer of the White Star liner Adriatic, who said that report was current in Liverpool.

"Right after the Arabic was sunk the report reached Liverpool that the U-boat has been captured," said the officer who asked that his name be withheld. "The story circulated in shipping circles was that she was one of the latest and most powerful of the German submarines. It was reported she carried two crews and had good sized guns upon her deck for shelling vessels that tried to escape her."

"This story is generally believed by shipping men at Liverpool."

Adriatic officers agreed that the German government must have got wind of the report that the submarine had been captured. They suggested that might be the reason for the hasty decision to accede to this country's wishes.

The officers said also that the number of submarines captured or sunk far exceeds popular belief.

"We're getting them," said one. "We're getting them all sorts of ways. They have done a lot of damage, but the Von Tirpitz campaign on the whole has been a failure."

WATCH YOUR $50 BILLS NOW

Strangers With Large Assortment of Counterfeit Money Operating.

Rushville merchants are warned by the police authorities to make a good look at all $50 bills handed them. Strangers, evidently possessing a large number of counterfeit bills, are thought to be operating in this section of the state.

In Hartford City, Thursday afternoon, a stranger entered a business house and made a 25-cent purchase. He presented a bill purported to be of $50 value. Actions on the part of the man caused the proprietor of the store to become uneasy and he refused to give the change. The man took the bill in hand and, leaving his purchases, left the store, saying he would get the change and then return. He has not been seen since. The bill has the appearance of having originally been of $5 value.

Arrangements to Feed 5,000 Persons
at Barbecue Here Sept. 15 Will be Out of Ordinary

FESTIVITIES TO START AT 9

It Far Famed "Burgoo" Man Can
Not Come, One of His Lieuten-
ants Will be in Charge

Although it is not determined yet that N. D. Lawrence, the famous "burgoo" man of Lexington, Kentucky, can take charge of the sixth district Republican barbecue here Wednesday September 15, if he is not present some one of his lieutenants will be.

The chairman of the ox roast with Mr. Lawrence but no definite word has been received. It is recognized that the committee will have to get an authority on such subjects in order to feed the crowd of five thousand people that is expected. The more optimistic are placing the figures higher since reports have been coming in concerning the interest that has been shown since the announcement of the meeting.

It was impossible for the executive committee to announce the personnel of the various committees today because the committees are not all arranged yet.

The vice-presidents will consist of the Republican county chairmen of the district and the reception committee will consist of at least one hundred Republicans of the county who will be assigned to meet the various trains and traction cars and escort the visitors to the city park.

The meeting will afford a fine opportunity for the Republicans of the sixth district to look over the candidates for state office and take their choice. The next election will be more like two elections than any ever held in Indiana.

The new direct primary law will be in operation for the first time. The parties will vote next March to decide who shall be their candidates. It is well worth the time of Republicans to get acquainted with their candidates for the many nominations on the state ticket.

The ox roast committee realizes that it will be no small task to feed five thousand persons. For that reason it will be necessary to call on outside assistance—a person who is trained to attend to such affairs.

To cause this part of the arrangements to run off smoothly, it was deemed the wisest plan to procure the "burgoo" man if possible.

It is realized that to watch the preparations to feed five thousand people will be a sight very much out of the ordinary. For this reason the committee on publicity and advertising is advertising the fact that the festivities will start at nine o'clock and that the crowd should be on hand to see how it is done.

Two head of cattle will be necessary to feed the throng it is estimated. The committee is now considering the proposition of purchasing the cattle and arranging to have them butchered.

The Convention.

WILL MEET LANSING ALSO

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 2.—After his white house conference today, Cardinal Gibbons said he had discussed peace with the president. He declined to give the details of the discussion but admitted he had received a message from the pope. The cardinal expressed gratification to the president over the result of the late diplomatic controversy with Germany.

"My conference with the president was very satisfactory," said the cardinal. "I hope within a short time to formulate a proper expression of the meeting."

"I expect to take up with Mr. Lansing a similar line of discussion," the cardinal said.

"Do you consider Germany's recent action agreeing to a modified submarine warfare as unfavorable to a European peace?" another questioner asked.

"Highly favorable," said the cardinal, "and it makes the situation much more easy of accomplishment in our efforts to bring about peace."

AUGUST SETS A NEW WET RECORD

County Weather Observer's Record
Shows More Rain Fell Than in
Any Time in 35 Years.

9.64 INCHES OF RAINFALL

Farmers Will be Pleased if Weather
Man Holds Stop Just Where it
is Right Now.

If the weather man hold the stop where it is now, there will be a lot of satisfied farmers in Rush county, even though he did damage the wheat crop with too much rain.

The dry, hot weather is what the farmers need to bring the corn crop out of the kinks, they say. The weather has been ideal for a few days and the forecast is for fair and continued warm weather.

It is generally felt that this section of the country is due for some observations for Rush county, more dry weather following the "deluge" of August. According to the records of Elwood Kirkwood, who makes observations for Rush county more rain fell last month than in any other August since the records have been taken in Rush county. In other words, it was the wettest August in thirty-five years.

His records show that 9.64 inches of rain fell last month. It was not only the heaviest rainfall in thirty-five years for the month of August, but it was almost twice as great as any previous record. In only two years during the thirty-five did the rainfall exceed 5.75 inches. They were in August, 1905, when the rainfall was 7.44 inches and in 1886, when it measured 7.31 inches.

The temperatures for the last few days have been seasonable. The mercury has been up to eighty during the middle of the day, but the nights have been cool. Fall hints, furs and other fall toggery are not so much in demand as they were last week.

Dispatches from Washington today indicated that continued wet weather, which has delayed harvesting, may change the government's preliminary estimate of the production of this year's winter wheat crop. Forecast August 9 at 659,000,000. Crop reporters in eleven states where rain has caused delay are making additional inquiries in connection with the September crop condition canvass as to the extent of damage to winter wheat. The September report is issued next Wednesday a revised preliminary estimate may be necessary.

Farmers are generally agreed that it might be worse. They recall sixteen years ago this fall when the corn crop was burnt to a crisp. Practically three-fourths of the corn crop was burnt up by the sun's rays. That year the prospects for a good corn yield were bright, but the heat changed all the prospects.

It was recalled that sixteen years ago this September the corn crop was not the only thing affected by the heat. "Business" was "entailed" and the oppressive heat caused much sickness.

GO-OPERATIONS NOT INTENDED

Governor Ralston Says Historical
Commission is Not Working With
National Patriotic League.

CONTRADICTS MAYOR WATKINS

Newcastle Executive Here Wednesday Represented Two Organization Were Working Together.

In direct contradiction to what Mayor Leb Watkins of Newcastle, field agent of the National Patriotic League, said in Rushville Wednesday, Governor Ralston has issued a proclamation to let it be known the Indiana Historical Commission is not co-operating with the league and repudiates any arrangements the league may have made toward celebrating the centennial in Indiana in 1916.

Mayor Watkins came here Wednesday to arrange with Mayor C. L. Bebout for a date when a local celebration could be held. He prevailed upon the mayor to select a committee of three to assist the representative of the National Patriotic League in carrying out the local plans. It was said by him to be a part of the plans to select some historical data from this county to be inserted in the state motion pictures, all of which would be shown at the proposed celebration here.

Mayor Watkins represented the relations between the organization he represents and the Indiana Historical Commission to be the very best. He told of a recent conference with the governor at which the field representatives of the National Patriotic League were present. At that conference the governor was reported by Mayor Watkins to have stated that the league he represented could go ahead and co-operate with the Indiana commission, which was created by an act of the last legislature.

According to stories in Indianapolis newspapers, the National Patriotic League has been attempting to combine its exhibit with the local celebration of the centennial in several cities, but no such effort was made by Mayor Watkins here, it is stated, even though he said that the two events might be combined.

"I have been informed," says the governor's statement, "I believe creditably that certain persons claiming to represent an organization, named the National Patriotic League, have visited many counties in this state in the alleged interest of the Indiana centennial celebration of 1916; that they have represented their organization and themselves as having an official relation with the Indiana historical commission created by law, and have claimed to be authorized by the body to enter upon a general plan of promotion and exploitation of said centennial through the state; that they have under such pretended authority visited several of the county seats of the state, and have induced a number of the mayors of such county seats to issue proclamations fixing certain days in 1916 for the celebration of said centennial in such cities and counties."

"Now, therefore, as Governor of the state of Indiana, and as the president of the Indiana historical commission, I declare that the said National Patriotic League has no connection whatever with the duly organized Indiana historical commission, and that any claim of such connection or authority by said league, or by any person or persons representing that or any other organization in such work, is wholly false and unfounded, and I hereby

CYCLOONES CAUSE LOSSES

Great Damage is Done in Central
and Northwest Manitoba Today.

(By United Press.)

Winnipeg, Canada, Sept. 2.—Cyclones did great damage in central and northwestern Manitoba today. Fields were swept bare of stocks of hay and grain. Houses and outbuildings were blown over and horses and cattle were killed or driven into forest res to perish. The bridge at Uno, on the Grand Trunk Pacific, was blown away and a train went through, the engineer being killed. Miles of telephone and telegraph wires are down and information is meagre.

Has Broken Down

SLAV FRONT IS UNBROKEN

(By United Press.)

Petrograd, Sept. 2.—General Ivanoff's armies have escaped the latest trap set by the Austro-Germans. The fortress of Lusk has been evacuated by the Russians with scarcely any loss in men or guns and the Slavs falling back in the direction of Dubno fortress they have taken 10,000 prisoners.

The Austrian plan to pierce the Russian line in this region, roll up the right flank of General Ivanoff's forces and cut off the Russian army corps operating in Galicia has broken down. The enemy has made no material gains, but has suffered heavily in killed and captured. The Slav line already has been reformed.

Half a million Austro-Germans are now engaged in the attempt to sweep the Russians out of Galicia but despite their most determined efforts supported by heavy shell fire the enemy has been unable to break the Slav front.

FRANK KUNTZ IS DEAD NEAR MANILLA

Young Man Expires of Yellow Jaundice and Penumonia After Recovering From Appendicitis.

SON OF LATE PETER KUNTZ

Frank Kuntz, 18 years old, died yesterday at the home of his mother, Mrs. Aurice Kuntz, two and one-half miles northeast of Manilla, after a several weeks' illness from pneumonia and yellow jaundice. He was first taken ill with appendicitis and after recovering from this contracted pneumonia and then yellow jaundice developed.

He was well known in this and Shelby county and was a son of the late Peter Kuntz. He is survived by his mother, one half-brother and one half-sister, Dale Brooks of near Manilla and Mrs. William Cawein, who lives with Mrs. Kuntz. The funeral services will be conducted Friday morning at nine o'clock in the St. Paul Catholic church, Shelbyville, and burial will take place in the Catholic cemetery there.

Elder C. W. Radcliff, of Connersville will preach at the Primitive Baptist church, Friday evening at 7:30.

MEMORANDUM PURPOSE SEEN

Believed Kaiser Met Demands to En-

End the War.

BY CHARLES P. STEWART.

(U. S. Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, Sept. 2.—Germany wants peace, on these terms: Freedom of the seas. Freedom for Poland. World wide recognition of the rights of Jews.

The kaiser's prime purpose in the memorandum his ambassador filed with the state department Wednesday was the enlistment of American co-operation in ending the war in Europe.

This information was given out from the German embassy in Washington today. It was no official but it was authoritative.

The state department expected from Germany a more detailed statement that the memorandum on the subject of submarine warfare.

The memorandum, it was said, was regular and eminently satisfactory but rather informal. The assumption is that a fuller message was being prepared.

Probably, said officials the memorandum was hastened forward ahead of the formal communication for the purpose of preventing delay in explanations concerning the Arabic from reading anti-German news in the United States.

No doubt was felt that the message would be acceptable as was the memorandum it preceded.

An Arabic explanation would have to come first however, it was said.

Amusements

The Princess will show four reels for tonight. The first picture is a Charles Chaplin comedy in two reels entitled "A Woman." It is said to be a great comedy and the famous comedian is seen at his best. The other picture is entitled "Braga's Double." Miss Nell Craig and Sheldon Lewis are featured. Lewis plays a double part in this picture. Tomorrow night the three act drama "A Dignified Family" will be shown.

The Gem will show the three act circus drama "Circus Mary" for the program tonight. Mary Fuller is featured. It is said to be a thrilling drama and many of the scenes were taken at a real circus. Tomorrow night the fourth adventure of "Under the Crescent" will be shown. This episode is entitled "For the Honor of a Woman," and as usual Princess Hassan is featured.

In history of New York Winter Garden spectacles that have played in New York and Chicago in the past none have taken such a hold on public fancy as has "Maid in America," which comes to the Shubert Murat theatre for a State Fair week engagement beginning next Monday afternoon with Labor Day matinee. This huge cyclonic revue struck Chicago harder than any entertainment ever did before and for sixteen weeks it smashed all records for attendance and receipts. The cast which will be seen locally is the original one and is second to none in the way of entertainers. There is Florence Moore, the inimitable comedienne, known as the "Female Al Jolson," Mile Dazie, most famous of all American dancers and pantomimists, Minerva Coverdale, the dainty soubrette who has set thousands of hearts agog on both sides of the Atlantic, Swor and Mack, unique black face comedians in their quaint drolleries, Sam Adams who has long headlined leading vaudeville bills, Rita Gould, a proud and haughty Broadway beauty, whose specialty is the rendition of song hits, Louise Mink, a statuesque prima donna who has many musical comedy honors to her credit, Coogan and Cox, eccentric dancers extraordinary, Will Stanton, whose comic efforts rival those of Charlie Chaplin, and many others of equal prominence. The comely chorus is typical of all Winter Garden shows, the handsomest and most shapely the country can produce; and they are in great numbers and great profusion. Seats are now selling.

NEW YORK FASHION NOTES.

BY MARGARET MASON.
(Written for United Press.)

Oh you metallurgic maid
You've a heart of gold I ween.
And the glory of your hair
Has a burnished copper sheen
Cloth of gold and silver gauze
Fashion's fabrics for the fall
Trim your garments everyone
Frocks and hats and wraps withal
Silver threads among the gold
Means naught old—it's very new
You are on your mettle, dear,
And much metal is on you.

New York, Sept. 2.—The Fall fashions are simply metalliferous if you ask me. Mere husbands are used to the alchemy that turns their perfectly good gold and silver into frills and furbelows for fair sex but now and lo behold, frills and furbelows are turned into gold and silver. In the early showing of Fall models there is hardly a silver embroidery, or a twist and fold of lustrous metallic gauze about it somewhere.

For evening gowns the metallic materials are most effective, especially the gorgeous brocades of old blue and gold, silver and old rose and many wonderful combinations. They look like products of the looms of romance and seem to give the lie to the broad hint that pastel tints would be the only things in the color line for the coming season. These magnificent metalline materials are naturally made up on the simplest straight lines, depending solely on their own beauty for adornment.

The princess lines that are already casting their graceful shadows before are perfect when carried out in these fantastic fabrics. The straight hung medieval effects are also good. Obviously these gorgeous garments are to be worn only by the most stately and Amazonian of the sex but let not the petite and clinging vine despair. She may metallize as well by touching up a frothy frock of net with high lights of gold or silver gauze.

Such a fascinating confection is an evening gown of white tulle. The multilayered skirt has its inner layer bound around its ankle length with a fold of silver gauze while the shorter outer layer is caught up in kirtle effect on each side with a cluster of silver gauze garlands. The bodice consists of a wisp of tulle over each shoulder, a wide girdle of the silver and a spray of the silver blooms at the corsage. A more delectable costume were hard to imagine unless it be a vision of blush rose tulle whose fluffy skirt is caught high up on the left side with long loops of purple velvet ribbon over a petticoat of golden gauze. A wide girdle of the gold is held in its proper place by a fluff of the tulle over one shoulder and a band of the purple over the other.

Embroidery in gold and silver threads and steel and copper beads is another favorite method of transmuting metals into garments and indeed a most striking one in connection with the lustrous velvets that are to be made for Fall and winter wear. Cunning little velvet hats like the bell crowned beavers of the beauty of old have huge made buckles of gold or silver gauze and hat bands of the same. Flat velvet shapes in black or purple with wreaths of bright colored yarn flowers with gold and silver fruits are a dazzle of gorgeousness. They are simply bound to go to your head. Most of them are bound in metallic material, too.

The elaborate afternoon gowns and suits for Autumn are almost invariably shown in redingote or full skirted Russian coat models with wide bands of gold or silver picked out on the velvet or satin of the principle fabric. Velvet in combination with broadcloth, serge, satin or chiffon forms all the smartest suits

In the United States Senate, on the 5th, 1914, during a discussion on the results of the Underwood tariff bill, a colloquy was held between two leading senators as to whether the retail price of men's clothing has been reduced as a result of the reduced tariff on wool. In response to the statement by the Republican senator that he had been unable to obtain any reduction in his tailor-made clothes, the Democratic senator said:

"If the senator will just join the holy army of men that God created with such perfection of physical form that they may be fitted at a ready-made clothing store, the Senator will find that goods are cheaper."

As this statement was made in Washington, and therefore evidently referred to Washington prices, correspondent at the capital has made an investigation. Five prominent dealers in standard makes of men's clothing—makes which have a national reputation—were asked if there has been any reduction in the price of ready-made men's clothing in the last three years.

They all said that they had to pay as much now for their clothing as before the Underwood Tariff bill went into effect, hence had to charge the consumer as much now as before. The tariff reduction; one said that the cloth is a little better, he thought. Another said that the cloth is no better, but that the reduction in tariff is made up for by a little better workmanship, such as tailoring and finishing. Two said that the cloth is about the same now as then in the $20 to $25 suits, and that the clothes for which these prices are paid today will not give one better satisfaction or better service than suits bought at the same prices before the Underwood tariff became effective.

The fifth dealer said that he is doing a business of over $100,000 annually in a standard brand of clothing and that, while the prices have not been lowered, he thought the cloth used inferior now because of the scarcity of wool. Many of the wool growers, anticipating the tariff reductions had sold their sheep and many of the sheep have been used for mutton, which has decreased the number of sheep by about nine million head. All but one of the dealers said that they had noticed that the consumer had much more money to spend before the Democratic tariff became effective.

The cloth used in a suit of clothes costing at retail $40.00 or $50 does not cost over $5.00 and very probably it costs less. There is hardly a cloth used which costs over $1.00 per yard, especially of the kind used in the average-priced suit retailing from $20 to $25. Suppose that the price of this cloth were reduced 10 per cent—which would be a very great reduction—this could not reduce the retail price of the suit more than 35 per cent. With this reduction, a $25 suit could be sold for $24.65 if the consumer were given full benefit. But our investigation has shown that there has been no actual reduction.

The claim of the Democratic senator, quoted above, is therefore wide of the mark and must have been made merely for political effect. The Underwood tariff bill has utterly failed in its purpose with respect to this commodity, and there is no doubt that the same test may be successfully applied to other necessities.

It is very fortunate that the question of who should succeed Frank Sullivan, deceased, as nightwatchman has been settled satisfactorily to everyone. The means adopted was the right course to pursue as it gave those who should have the right to determine the question the privilege of voting their sentiments.

By the same token the Democratic party is the party of free trade or it is nothing. It may hide behind the subterfuge of "tariff for revenue only," but even that is not the correct, judging by the growing deficit.

"The republican party is the party of protectionism or it is nothing," Henry Watterson in the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Current Comments

Mexico Lynching (Philadelphia Ledger)

Leo Frank, ill and defenseless, was torn from his prison cot early Tuesday morning and murdered by a band of Georgia ruffians. With one voice press and public expressed their horror and indignation while the Governor of Georgia pledged the authority of his office to punish the foul crime. But why is the voice of America, aroused over this isolated piece of brutality, silent on Mexico, where thousands have suffered as Leo Frank suffered, and without even the semblance of a trial? The command, "Thou shalt not kill," was the only one broken in the Frank lynching; in Mexico, under the sway of Carranza and Villa, the whole decalogue is violated, and instead of American protests there are actually American help and encouragement for the tyrants who have burned, robbed and murdered.

The character of the red-banded Villa appears again in a glaring light in news dispatches telling how he put to death twenty-two civil and military officers last Sunday in Chihuahua, and yet this precious villian is honored by the Wilson administration to the extent that a backstairs diplomat, styled a confidential agent of the State Department, is accredited to his savage court and is known throughout Mexico as the bosom friend and adviser of the robber chief. A similar agent represents this country at the headquarters of Carranza, and this whole system of underground negotiation and irregular representation constitutes the Wilson-Bryan contribution to the diplomacy of a nation which has fallen from the great days of Blaine, Olney and John Hay.

Polished phrases fall readily from Presidential lips, but it will take more than rhetoric and A. B. C. conferences to set straight and Administration record in its dealings with our Southern neighbor. The strength which enabled the wreckers to wound Mexico unto death was drawn from this side of the Rio Grande, and it is our shame that the hand of encouragement was extended by men whose lips were uttering inane formulas for peace, world wide and everlasting Mexican refugees throng America's threshold—poor peons, who pray for a bite to eat in security; educated men of the higher classes, who can and do recount in terse phrases how their country has been ruined by American meddling; energetic men, who ask nothing but the chance to work in Mexico, as they once did, with a reasonable assurance that life and liberty will be protected.

HOOSIER HISTORY

(Prepared for the United Press by the Indiana Historical Commission)

The Passing of The Steamboat
"For ten long years the struggle between railroads and the steamboats went on. Millions of dollars were invested in the great white vessels that glided up and down the rivers, but they dropped out of the race and became the sport of time. Some far-seeing owners knowing the fight lost for all time, dismantled their vessels. Others more obstinate kept their boats trim and clean. Through the long idle summers they would sit in pilot house watching the railroad write in letters of smoke against the sky, the story of their doom. The hungry race for cargoes was responsible for more than one river tragedy. The wind seemed to carry the news of a waiting shipmen and the idle boats raced to the scene like a school of sharks."

ABANDONMENT IS CHARGED IN SUIT

Mrs. Mary Doyle Files Action Against William F. Doyle For Divorce and Alimony.

ASKS CUSTODY OF HER CHILD

Mrs. Mary Doyle has filed suit for divorce from William F. Doyle, alleging cruel and inhuman treatment and abandonment. The complaint states that he had a violent temper and during the spells of anger would call her vile epithets. Mrs. Doyle also alleges that he failed to support her and her child and at the time of the separation he wholly abandoned her. The complaint states that they were married on August 2, 1911 and separated February 18, 1915.

The complaint states that he has been employed in Chicago, but his present whereabouts are unknown to the plaintiff. Mrs. Doyle asks for the custody of the child and $300 alimony. She also asks $5 a week support money for the child.

NEGROS ACCUS A WOMAN

Mrs. Moore Ridicules Charge She Planned to Kill Husband.

(By United Press.)
Providence, R. I. Sept. 2.—Mrs. Elizabeth Moore, accused by three negroes of having planned the murder of her husband and the girl she believed had won his love, not only agreed to pay $5,000 when the crime was committed, but provided the negroes with a motorcycle to follow Dr. Moore, they declared in a statement to the police this afternoon.

Mrs. Moore, who is under arrest, denied the new statements. The whole charge she declared through her attorneys was "ridiculous."

LET HIM GO FIGHT.

(Kokomo Tribune.)
Some citizens of Milwaukee who seem to be pretty good Americans, of German descent, have played a practical joke on Colonel Roosevelt. They proposed to make it comparatively easy for him to get into the European war instantly, if he chooses to accept an offer made by Charles Mechel in a letter addressed to Oyster Bay Friday. "We see by the papers that you are spoiling for a fight with the Germans," says Mechel's letter. "Most Americans prefer to attend to their own business. Therefore, representing a small coterie of local men, we have subscribed $250. I am instructed to tender you this amount to defray your expenses to enable you to join Canadians who are going over to France. This will give you the time of your life."

INTERESTED IN THE SPECIAL DAY

Disease Prevention Day is Being Boosted by The Indiana Mayors Association

EXECUTIVES GET A LETTER

They Are Urged to Lead Fight to Rid State of That Preventable Disease, Tuberculosis.

Indianapolis, Sept. 2.—Indiana mayors are taking an unusual interest in this year's plans for the observance of Disease Prevention Day. The following letter has been sent to the chief executive of each Indiana city by A. C. Sallee, Secretary of the Indiana Mayors' Association:

"Indiana gained nation wide recognition and commendation last year by its observance of Disease Prevention Day. Hundreds of Hoosier communities, in many instances led by the mayor, staged notable demonstrations on that day, as a part of the general movement to arouse their people to the truth of the old saying, 'An Ounce of Prevention is Worth Pounds of Cure.'"

"In view of the fact that almost 9,000 Indiana men, women and children die each year from preventable diseases, a tragedy which touches every Indiana city and town bringing it not only a loss of life, but throwing on the community the cost of supporting many helpless citizens it occurred to me that every mayor in this state would desire to forward this movement."

"It is a thing to reflect great credit on those who take part. As we understand the proposition upon reading Governor Ralston's proclamation, which, in accordance with a resolution passed by the last legislature, fixes Friday, October 1st as Disease Prevention Day, the carrying out of the plan is very simple and easy from the standpoint of any city's chief executive."

"A proclamation from you, supplementing the one from the Governor, the appointment of committees on decorations, parade, floats, talks in the schools on the day in question, and perhaps an ity wide effort to have all garbage and other trash removed in advance, the securing of helpful publicity from the newspapers is all that is necessary to put the proposition under way."

"Don't you think it would be good policy from a public welfare standpoint, for you to take the initiative in your city? Please tell me what you think of this proposition and advise me if I can do anything to help you make it a success."

RUSHERS TACKLE GREENSBURG TEAM

Ironclads Coming Back For Game
This Sunday—Fully Expect to Beat Rushville Team.

LINEUPS REMAIN UNCHANGED

The Greensburg team will come here again Sunday to meet the Rushers. Rain prevented the game scheduled for last Sunday between the two teams and the fans are anxious for the game to be played this Sunday. Both teams will line-up as they intended to last Sunday. Greensburg is confident of beating Rushville. The Greensburg papers stated that the rain last Sunday was all that saved Rushville from a defeat. This kind of talk shows how confident they are that Rushville will be put out of the running.

Manager Davidson believes that Jack Reiss will be able to stand the Greensburg team on their heads and will start him in the box. The rest of the team will lineup as usual. Humpty Badel, George Rohe and all the rest of the Rushville stars will be in the game.

NO CHANCE FOR KIDS TO GET LOST

Department is Maintained at Exposition Where All Kiddies Are Restored to Parents

TWO MATRONS IN CHARGE

Several Bushels of "Jewels" Have Been Stolen Off of The Tower of Jewels.

BY FRED S. FERGUSON

San Francisco, Sept. 2.—There is a sort of "kiddies exchange" at the Panama Pacific Exposition. It bears the official title of the Lost and Found Department. Into it come the weeping tots who are found wandering disconsolately alone about the grounds, or are found gazing in wide-eyed wonder upon the big arches or spouting fountains, oblivious to the fact that they are "lost."

There are two matrons on duty whose sole duties are to drive away tears, give assurances that mother or father certainly will be there soon and make the little ones as comfortable as possible. On one of the biggest days of the Exposition 65 youngsters were "lost" between the time the gates opened at 10 o'clock that night. They were picked up by guards in various parts of the grounds, but mostly along the Zone and the Marina where the tots were drinking in the sights with such fervor that they did not notice they were alone in the crowds.

When asked for official figures on the number of "lost" at the Exposition up to mid-August, the Lost and Found Department said 1,112, including children and grown-ups.

"Grown-ups?"
"Oh, yes," came the reply, "grown-ups have gotten lost at the Exposition. Of course a majority of those cared for in the Lost and Found Department are children, but often a man or woman becomes separated from a party. Then, they come to the Lost Department, deposit themselves with us and wait for their friends to come for them."

Of the youngsters who have been lost at the Exposition, all have been restored to their parents. The grown-ups who have taken refuge with the Matrons of the Lost and Found Department have either been located by their friends, or growing tired of waiting, have gone away by themselves.

Some prying youngsters playing along the Marina recently wrecked a long standing pastime of guards and messenger boys employed about the Exposition. It was done in absolute innocence, but nevertheless the Exposition guards do not care to hurry to the waterfront when they have an hour or so off.

Along the sides of the Palace of Manufacturers, Education and other buildings on the Marina are thick growths of small trees and green brush. One afternoon while several children were playing on the grass they heard coming from behind the foliage such expressions as, "Come seven! stay Little Joe! now you eleven!" One little girl spied a guard on duty and ran to him.

"There are some men talking funny behind those bushes," the child informed the khaki clad guardian of Exposition peace. The guard went to investigate the "funny" talk. There was a scattering of boys and men and a full blown crap game was disrupted.

People have been picking "jools" off the Tower of Jewels and the Exposition officials are all worked up over it. This massive tower, which resembles a gigantic wedding cake of several layers, is bedecked on all upper layers with Austrian "novagems." The big "jewels" are inlaid and swung pendant like from every projecting point of the tower, causing it to glitter and sparkle in the sunlight or in the rays of the numerous searchlights played upon it at night. Picking jewels, however, is no business, in the opinion of officials and extra guards are to be placed on duty in the tower.

Although the Exposition crowds in general are not permitted to go up in the tower, persons who have been taken up have obtained souvenirs by snipping off a jewel here and there. Officials declare if this keeps up the tower's glitter will soon cease to glitz, to say nothing of the fact have been carried away. At this rate that about $100 worth of jewels visitors must have stolen several bushels.

(Greensburg Review.)

The announcement that the Republicans of the Sixth district will hold a big love feast, at which the feature will be an ox roast, in Rushville, Sept. 15, has been received with much interest by local Republicans and a large delegation probably will make the trip to attend the meeting.

The day will be known as "Governor's Day" and all the candidates for Governor are expected to attend. While no definite announcement has been made, it is believed, that James E. Watson will announce himself as a candidate for United States Senator at that time. Speaking will be held in the afternoon.

At any rate the meeting is going to be a big gathering and the committee in charge expects it to eclipse all former events in the way of love feasts. Rushville and Rush county sent a large delegation to this city for the Republican love feast and old Decatur will reciprocate.

Put us down on your visiting list. We'll be there sure, in force.

(Shelbyville Republican.)

It has been arranged for the Republicans of this Congressional district to hold a love feast in Rushville on September 15, the day of the week being Wednesday. The occasion will be known as Governor's Day. There are so many candidates seeking that nomination that the members of the party in this district are anxious to see them line up in order to take a bird's eye view of them. Each and every candidate is a man of sterling qualities and the pity is that all of them can not be nominated—taking merit and worth into consideration alone. Along with the candidates for Governor will be the candidates for the other state offices. The entire lot will make a fine parade in number, quality and appearance. Everybody knows that the election in November, 1916, will be so one-sided that it will be a worthless task to count the votes. Might as well make it unanimous in advance and save the election expense.

At this Congressional meeting will be something to eat. The word has gone out that an ox roast will be a feature. Better make it two. All of Shelby county will be there and the average Shelby countyite is some eater, particularly if this ox has been raised in the blue grass pastures of Rush county and fed on Rush county corn. If you have only one ox, gentlemen, place over there a veal or two and a few spring lambs.

The morning of the day will be given up to a general good time with the dinner at noon. After the repast has been served the candidates for Governor will be given the opportunity to show themselves and to test their voices, the said voices to be heard throughout the state during the next fourteen months. This will be some campaign but the G. O. P. is out to win.

It will be observed that this meeting is to be held in Rushville. Most every person has said that James E. Watson is a candidate for the U. S. Senate but Mr. Watson. Up to date he has kept silent on the subject. Although this district meeting was not arranged for until Tuesday word has gone out that on the day of the rally Mr. Watson will announce his candidacy. The meeting will be in his "home town," affording Mr. Watson all the opportunity required for making the announcement. If he declares he is a candidate for the nomination all the other candidates for the same place will at once recognize that they will have something to do.

In the meantime make up your mind that the meeting will be a great one, that every county in the district will be represented by a large delegation, that there will be plenty to eat and drink, speech making to satisfy. Get ready to go to Rushville on Wednesday, September 15.

(Greensburg News.)

Plans have been announced in Rushville for a Sixth District Republican love feast to be held in that city Sept. 15. The day will be known as "Governor's Day" and it is expected that all candidates for Governor as well as for other State offices will attend. A feature of the day will be an ox roast. The event will be held at the city park and arrangements are being perfected to care for a crowd of 5,000. It is expected that James E. Watson will announce his candidacy for United States Senator at this gathering.

AUDITOR IS RESPONSIBLE

Bond Must Back Loans and Interest on School Funds.

A new order from the State Board of Accounts to county auditors of Indiana holds the auditors of a county personally responsible on his official bond for his failure to collect interest on school fund loans when the same is due. In the future all county auditors will be held personally responsible on their bonds for neglect of duty in making safe loans as provided by law. Such auditors will also be held personally responsible on their bonds for failure to collect all delinquent interest on school fund loans within ninety days after such interest becomes due and field examiners will be instructed to make proper charges against all such negligent officials.

CORN OR CASH FOR VOTES

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 1.—To secure funds to carry out their campaign for votes to secure a constitutional amendment, giving women the ballot at the next state wide primary election, the suffrage leaders have issued a call upon every farmer's wife in the state to give a bushel of corn, or its value in cash, to the fund. At the state fair here the suffrage leaders have a corn booth where fair visitors are delivering their corn or agreeing to pay the cash. In every county in the state an agent was named to receive and care for the corn and attend to its sale. Many thousands of bushels of corn are being obtained.

A few weeks ago, he forged three checks and gave himself up to the St. Paul police. His sentence finished, he soon returned to the St. Paul police, demanded his cell back saying he had forged another check. He was accommodated. Then he came back here, voluntarily appeared before the authorities, and insisted he had forged another check, and asked to be sentenced to the state reformatory. He denied he is writing a book on prison reform.

CAN CARE FOR 400 IN HOSPITAL

Traveling Conveyance 700 Feet

Long Built by Subscriptions

Solicited by a Woman

16-YEAR-OLD GIRL SENTENCED

Replied to Soldier She Preferred King Without Country to Emperor Without Honor

BY WILBUR S. FORREST (U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

London, Aug. 18 (By Mail)—The finest traveling hospital in the world is somewhere in France today.

Known as the "Princess Christian Hospital train," it was built from subscriptions solicited by the sister of the late King Edward, who provided a similar equipment, though smaller, during the Boer war.

Every requirement necessary for the care of 400 desperately wounded soldier is provided in eight coaches of the 700 foot conveyance. Six additional carriages provide plunging quarters for the sick and slightly wounded on their way to base hospitals from the front. Several coaches are equipped with beds, a kitchen, lockers, hot and cold water and electric and gas appliances including illumination.

Another affords sleeping accommodations for nurses and doctors while another is a complete operating room. Hundreds of details throughout the moving hospital are supplied from the latest knowledge of hospital and surgical supplies. If necessary it can be sidetracked at an isolated waystation near a battle front and be employed at a stationary hospital.

A joint committee of the leading railways of France and England superintended the construction of the train at Birmingham.

Much has been said of the famous American hospital of Paris but little is known of the "American Hospital of London."

In the Duchess of Connaught's Canadian Red Cross hospital at Clivedon Wood, on the Thames, scores of nurses and 42 doctors from Canadian and American cities care for the Canadian "Indians" as they come wounded and torn from the battlefields across the Channel. There are tennis, golf, billiards, and quoits for the convalescents and the true Canadian idea of food, fresh air and laughter to condition the wounded men again for the ever-raging struggle from which they came. Patients are fed on fresh eggs, plump chickens and jam and biscuits direct from Canada. They are given the open air treatment as soon as possible, and most any day can be found a fleet of rooing beds flanking a football field nearby, where simon pure Canadian football is in order.

The new hospital, which is being enlarged to care for 50 patients, is regarded as a model of hospitals in England. It is equipped with light, airy operating rooms, medical and surgical stores, laboratories and x-ray rooms, embracing all the latest in medical science.

"It makes you homesick for Canada," said one Canadian recruit today. He got it in the leg in France and with two crutches he was playing football, his chief desire being to kick the ball with his injured leg.

Mail advices from Ghent, Belgium, tell that Germans sentenced Countess Dejongh Dardoye, age 16, to three months imprisonment recently.

She was walking in Ghent with her grandmother and both were wearing medals with King Albert's picture. A German officer tore the medals from them, saying: "Away with that King without a country."

The young Countess picked up the medals, and answered hotly: "We Belgians prefer a King without a country to an Emperor without honor."

She was immediately arrested and subsequently sentenced by court martial.

The gallant defense of the Belgians at St. Giles, as shown in the above picture, will find its counterpart during the huge war spectacle, "War in Indiana," to be staged at the Indianapolis motor speedway, Monday September 6, for the building fund of the Indiana national guard. Three batteries of artillery will be in action simultaneously, on attack and defense, illustrating every maneuver of which these highly specialized engines of warfare are capable.

Is Tuberculosis Curable?

Every once in a while people will ask "Do you really think Consumption can be cured?" and then, when they are told that thousands of cases all over the world bear witness to the fact of the curability of this disease, they wonder why their several friends and relatives, who died with tuberculosis, were not cured.

Tuberculosis is curable, but not everyone is cured, and not everyone can be cured. The chief reason why more consumptives are not cured is because they have waited too long before they heeded the warning danger signals of the disease, or because some doctor to whom they went did not recognize this deadly plague. In its early stages, consumption can be cured, and the patient can generally resume his normal life within a period ranging from six months to two years, depending on circumstances. As high a percentage of actual recoveries from tuberculosis may be found in really early cases who follow the right course of treatment as in almost any other infectious disease.

What, then, is the right course of treatment? This article cannot prescribe for individual cases, but it can and will tell what are the essentials in taking the cure for tuberculosis.

First of all, there is a good doctor on whom you can rely and whose advice and inspiration is most valuable to you. He will not give you much medicine, because there isn't and drug or "cure" that he can prescribe that will do more than to relieve some immediate symptoms, such as constipation, cough, headache, etc. If your doctor begins to talk of a "marvelous remedy" which will cure you, it is time you looked for another physician. That man is more than likely a quack and is simply after your money. There is no sure "cure" or remedy for tuberculosis that you can buy at a drug store or that a doctor can give you.

The second essential in the cure of tuberculosis is fresh air. To the healthy person the best tonic is fresh air at work, at play, and during sleep. To the consumptive, however, air is medicine. He must take it in as large doses as he can, the more the better. It may not be easy for one who has been accustomed to indoor work to sleep and live outdoors, but since fresh air is vital, he must accustom himself to being outside all he can. At sanatoria for the treatment of tuberculosis, patients are out of doors on porches or elsewhere almost all the time. If one is at home, he can with a little ingenuity arrange devices for outdoor sleeping and sitting. The National Tuberculosis Association, 105 East 22d street, New York, will send free of charge to anyone a booklet entitled: "Directions for Living and Sleeping in the Open Air."

The next essential in the cure of tuberculosis is rest. Like fresh air, rest must be taken as a medicine by consumptive. The reason for rest is evident when you stop to think the way the germs of tuberculosis work. As they destroy the tissues of the lungs or other parts of the body, they make a wound or a cavity. This wound, like a cut on your finger, will not heal if it is being opened all the time. To keep the lungs as quiet as possible, rest in bed, or in a reclining chair is absolutely necessary. The dose of rest you take will depend on your doctor's advice. He will tell you when you can get out of bed and when you can exercise and how much. But first and foremost you must learn to rest, in order to give the lungs a chance to heal.

Besides a good doctor, fresh air and rest, the cure for tuberculosis requires good, wholesome food. In normal health, food of the right kind is very necessary; but in tuberculosis it is doubly important. Food is the fuel which heats the body and gives it its energy or you might almost say "steam." In tuberculosis one must pay special attention to food, because he has to provide fuel not only for the ordinary functions of the body, but he must provide an additional supply to meet the waste and damage done by the germs of the disease. This doesn't mean that you must be continually stuffing yourself, for if you do that you will upset your stomach, bowels, and liver, and you will counteract all the good the food might do. Neither does it mean that you must eat just one or two kinds of food, such as milk and eggs, which some people think are a cure for tuberculosis. They are excellent foods for people who can eat and digest them readily and every consumptive should try to acquire an appetite for them. But meat and potatoes and bread and butter and good vegetables and almost any other nourishing wholesome food in plenty of variety are needed also. Don't rely on tid-bits and sweets, but stoke your body furnace with food-fuel that will keep it running in the best possible order. Your doctor is the best one to advise on foods.

And, finally, a last essential in the cure of tuberculosis may be summed up in these words; "Don't worry." Keep a hopeful state of mind. If you give up and say "It's no use," you will never get well, no matter how patiently you follow the other essentials of a cure. Getting well depends for the most part on you. Backbone, hopefulness and courage will do more for you than all the doctors in the world.

Just a word as to where to take the cure. If you can go to a sanatorium, do so. There are not enough sanatoria for everyone, however. So you may have to stay at home and fight alone. Remember, tuberculosis can be cured if you take it in time and do your part.

OBITUARY

On May 24, 1913, little Orval Leslie, came to bless and brighten the home of Leslie and Clara J. Hinchman.

For the first few months of his life he was of a rather delicate constitution but he soon showed evidence of greater strength and rapidly developed into a sturdy little fellow of a strong constitution and enjoyed the very best of health. True, he had, on a few occasions, some sickness of a few days duration, but on the whole his general characteristics promised a good strong child.

Already plans had been formulated and fond hopes cherished by the loving parents and grand-parents for the future well-fare and development of the little one. The loving mother had looked forward with great anxiety to the time when her little boy would start to school with his little satchel and lunch-basket, and further more when her son would grow into a stalwart young man to take his place among his fellows in this busy world.

But alas, for some great reason which we cannot now understand these fond hopes and desires have all been changed into the deepest sorrow and gloom that it is possible for this world to afford.

On Tuesday night, August 24, little Orval was taken ill. The closest attention was given him from that time on, and while he was real sick, yet no greatly alarming symptoms developed until Saturday morning when a very great turn for the worse was manifest. The disease had attacked the little brain and the very intense fever was rapidly consuming his vitality. The strong little body withstood the heavy onslaughts all the morning hours and until about three o'clock p. m. Saturday, August 28, 1915, his little spirit took its flight and went to dwell with Him who gave it.

How intense the sorrow in this home, which but a few days before was so very happy.

What does it all mean? Has this brief life been spent in vain? Surely not so. In the midst of this grief and anguish can we not glean a message to the living? Where is little Orval today? The blessed Master has said "Suffer the little children to come unto me and forbid them not for of such is the kingdom of Heaven." Who can think but that little Orval is now over there and is calling to Mamma and Papa, to Grand-parents and all of the vast host of loved ones left behind telling them to so live that when they are called to cross the Great Divide they may be able to meet him in that better land where partings never come and where sin and sorrow are unknown.

It is hard to give him up but how sweet to know he is now in the arms of the loving saviour. We know it is hard to see it in this light but help us to say "Not my will but thine be done."

As a cloud of the sunset, slow melting in heaven,

As a star that is lost when the daylight is given,

As a glad dream of slumber that awakens in bliss,

He has passed to the world of the holy from this.

LINCOLN BOOKS NOW IN DEMAND

War Has Created Greater Interest in This Class of Reading—Especially in Europe.

NATIONS LOOK TO AMERICA

German College Professor Says the World is Mad, But United States Alone Remains Cool.

Note—The following is the first of three rather unusual articles by William G. Shepard. In view of the fact that Shepard recently returned from the war zone, interesting contrast is possible by him. He calls the series "Discovering America," and divides it into "Discovering America in Europe," "Discovering America in America," and "Discovering the Reason."

By WILLIAM G. SHEPARD.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, Sept. 2.—In wine, it sometimes is said, there is truth. War is intoxicating, and, in the wine of war there is truth. The nations of Europe are drunk with war, their masks are off, you can see them as they really are. Just as a drunken man shows his inner self so do the war-drunk nations of Europe reveal, to the careful observer, their inner thoughts and motives.

The revelations of the war in Europe are not confined to the nations of Europe, but extended to the United States. A man who has been in Europe, knee deep in war, for the past year, and then returns to the United States, sees the land of the stars and stripes in a new light. I have discovered America.

The first discovery was in Europe. In all the truthfulness of their war intoxication, the Europeans showed me the United States as they saw it, and I was ashamed, but proud.

"The United States is the conscience of the world," said a famous German college professor, now the German army censor at Munich. "The world has gone mad, but your land alone is cool and sane and we must look to you, at the finish of this war, to tell us what sanity is."

At the English front, after a lay in the trenches, I sat beside a grate fire in a little hotel a few miles out of shell fire; I didn't want to go to bed, for fear of seeing again, in my sleep, some of the sights I had witnessed during the day. Perhaps the British officers who were sitting around felt the same.

Suddenly one of them spoke.

"One of the greatest men this world ever saw," he said, "was Abraham Lincoln. I've read every word I could find about him, and my two little daughters and two little sons know everything about Lincoln that I do."

"Yes," spoke up another British officer. "Do you know, I've heard Lincoln mentioned ever so many times lately. Something in this war, it seems, appears to have turned attention to Lincoln, though I can't tell why. I've just read a book about him and I know ever so many people in London who've done the same. The newspapers keep quoting him all the time, too."

"It's because he was always for the underdog," said the first officer. "He was brave and patient and kind and honest. You know my children love that story about him and the sixpenny pieces he had in an old sock."

"Well what was that?" asked a third officer.

"Well, one time Lincoln kept a grocery shop in a little village and the village postoffice was in a corner of his shop. He had charge of it. One day he failed in business; he tried to make a go of it for months, but down he went. All the citizens of the village thought he was ruined and some of the men, who were his good friends, feared that he had probably used the postoffice money in trying to save his shop. So they collected about forty pounds among themselves—you know everybody who knew Lincoln loved him—and took it to him. Here's forty pounds, Abe," they said. "We figured that you had lost the postoffice money, too, in the smash, and as soon as the sheriff comes around and finds it out you'll be in trouble." Just wait a minute, boys," said Lincoln. "I'll run upstairs and get the postoffice bank and see how I stand."

"Pretty soon he came downstairs, carrying an old sock, full of coins, six pences and thirpences and pennies and they were the very coins that he had been taking in at the postoffice window during all the hard months."

"Lincoln counted it all out and then he said, 'Thanks, afully boys, but I don't believe I need a cent of your money.'"

"That's the story about Lincoln that my children love the best," concluded the Britisher.

In London, some weeks later, at several book stores I discovered there had been a growing demand since the war began for books on Lincoln.

DECRIBES WEIRD HAVOC BY GERMAN "PILSENER"

Warsaw, Aug. 8 (By Mail)—"Small arms and bullets are playing no role in the present war. The rifle is the infantryman's toy. The infantryman does not fight. When the big guns have finished the infantryman merely scrambles into the trenches they have won and occupies them."

This is the statement of Surgeon-Major Lesghintseff, who has just returned from the scene of the big battle in Galicia.

Seven-eighths of the wounds are from shells, half of these from big calibre shells and the rest from field howitzers and field guns."

The shell that the Russians most fear is the Skoda 42 centimetre projectile weighing 2800 pounds. They are known to the soldiers at "Pilseners." The normal trajectory of the Skoda gun is 4 1/2 miles high and in soft ground the shells penetrate 20 feet before exploding. The "Pilseners" are howitzer guns and the projectiles except in diameter do not represent the famous Krupp 42 centimetre shells, also used by the Germans.

Describing the effect of a "pilsener" shell, the surgeon said: "It kills everyone within 150 yards and kills others who are further off. The mere pressure of gas breaks in the partitions and roofs of bombproof shelters. Scores of men, who escape metal fragments, stones and showers of earth, are killed, lacerated or blinded by the pressure of gas. Men who are only a short distance away are torn asunder. Sometimes only the clothes are striped off. Of men close by not a fragment remains the clothes disappear and only small metal articles are found. If the shell is very near the explosion melts rifle barrels as if they were struck by lightning. Men who disappear in such explosion are often reported missing, as there is no proof of their death."

The State of Indiana, Rush County, Mary I. Doyle vs. William F. Doyle. In the Rush Circuit Court. In vacation, 1915. Complaint No. 629.

Now comes the plaintiff, by John A. Titworth, attorney, and files her complaint herein, together with an affidavit, that the residence of the defendant, William F. Doyle, is unknown, and that diligent inquiry has been made to ascertain the residence of said defendant, but that said inquiry has not disclosed the residence of said defendant.

Notice is therefore hereby given said defendant, that unless he be and appear on the 43d judicial day of the next term of the Rush Circuit court to be holden on the fourth Monday of October, A. D. 1915, at the court house in Rushville, in said county and state, and answer or demur to said complaint, the same will be heard and determined in his absence.

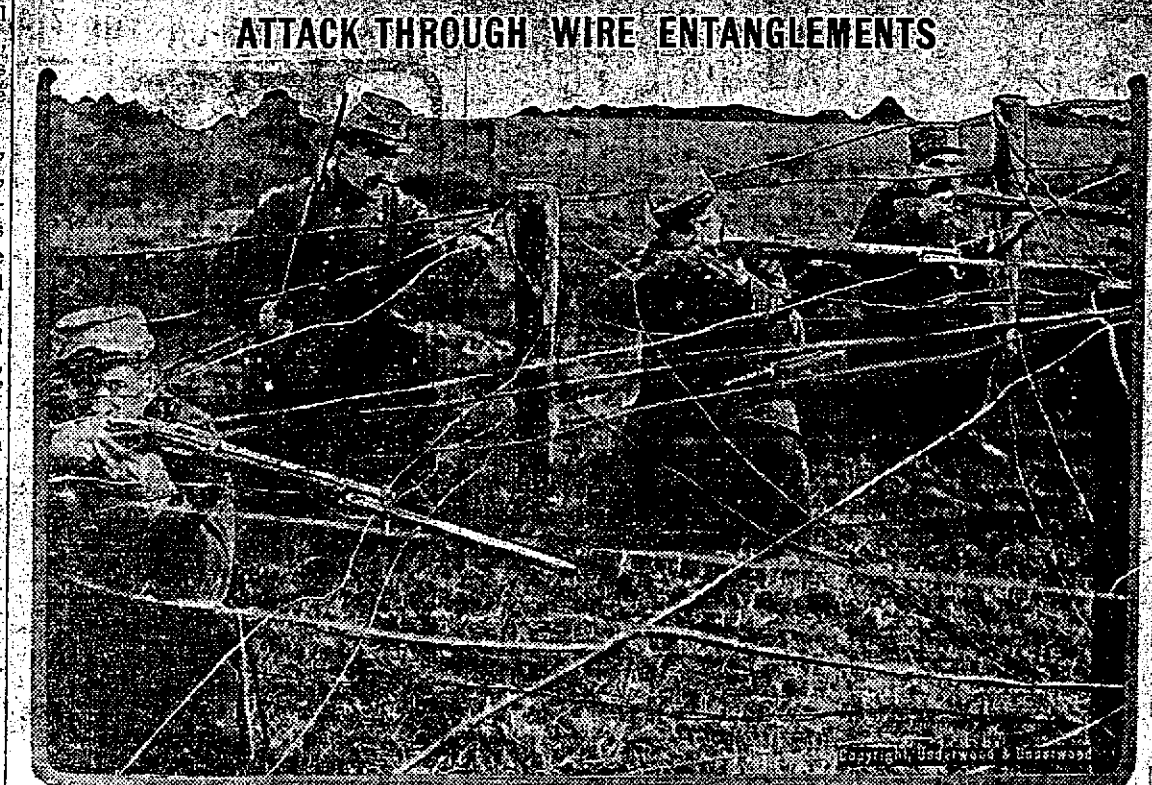

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and affixed the seal of said court, at Rushville, this 2d day of September, A. D., 1915.

Secretary.

The difficult progress of the French troops in the above picture will be reproduced in verisimilitude during the great war spectacle, "War in Indiana," to be held at the Indianapolis motor speedway, Monday, September 6, for the building fund of the Indiana national guard. Great stretches of barbed entanglements have been constructed, through which attacking parties will be forced to hew their way, in the face of a devastating fire from rifles, artillery, and machine guns.

Secretary of State Claims "War" Promoters Are Pulling Wool Over Eyes of Many

BENEFITS ONLY CAPITOL

Indianapolis Merchants Asking State For Support When State Gets Nothing in Return

BY DAN L. BEEBE
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Indianapolis, Sept. 2.—Charles Downing, secretary of the state board of agriculture in a rapid-fire statement made to the United Press today exposed what he said was a systematic attempt of certain Indianapolis interests to pull the wool over the eyes of the Indiana people while the deftly extracted silver dollars from their pants pockets.

Mr. Downing declared that the "war spectacle" to be staged here co-incidental with the opening of the state fair is practically for the benefit of Indianapolis alone, although the wide-spread publicity campaign boosting it has advertised it as a state benefit.

"Indianapolis wants an armory for its three national guard companies, and it wants people from other cities who ordinarily attend the opening day of the state fair to pay for this armory," said Downing.

Merchants Criticised

Intimations already have come to the United Press that certain people connected with the state fair were dissatisfied with the "titude" Indianapolis business men have displayed in past years toward the fair.

One employe of fair stated that merchants were not satisfied that Indianapolis drew the fair crowd each year, but actually sought to compete with the fair to keep the crowd up-town. Downing was asked how it happened that newspapers all over the state were given more publicity to the "warspectacle" than to the state fair.

"It is simply a case of clever publicity of the free variety," he said. "So far I have been able to learn the Indianapolis Armory association has not paid a cent for newspaper advertising, yet its promoters taking advantage of the military spirit existing, are getting big headlines and columns of free space, especially in Indianapolis."

Pays For Publicity

Downing said that for years the state fair has divided annually $3,500 among 350 state papers for advertising. He told of an editor of a Logansport paper, who, he said, returned some of the stories concerning the "war spectacle" with the statement there must be a "nigger in the woodpile."

The state board secretary was asked whether he knew why the "war spectacle" promoters chose the opening day of the fair—Labor Day—for their "benefits." In answer he turned a galling gun on Carl Fisher, president of the Motor

Speedway, where the spectacle will be held, and one of the spectacle's chief promoters.

Mr. Fisher thinks the state fair has invaded his rights because we are going to stage night auto races. His former manager, Moross, is working for us and conceived the "race idea" said Downing. "Fisher said in a meeting of promoters that the Speedway grounds could be used only if the spectacle was held during fair week. Also they wanted to take advantage of our special railroad and interurban rates."

"War" Benefits Whole State

Backers of the "war in Indiana" show declared today that Mr. Downing was unduly alarmed. They said the spectacle would help the fair by drawing a bigger crowd. They said also that the feature would benefit the entire state because it would arouse interest in the national guard and would supply an armory that would be a state institution. They said money thus raised would prevent a state tax to raise the amount and that other spectacles could be given for the benefit of other counties. They did not explain how these counties could arrange to co-operate with the state fair nor how they could draw a crowd from Indianapolis, in exchange for the money spent here for the local armory.

"Whats more, anyone who attends the spectacle will get his money worth," said a promoter.

The state fair has cut its admission fee in half—twenty-five cents for Labor Day. The admission fee for spectacles ranges from $1 upward.

INFECTION IS CARRIED BY HOGS

Have Been Responsible More Than Any Other Animal For Spread of Foot and Mouth Disease.

RECENT OUTBREAK TRACED

Much Crimson Clover Seed is of Poor Quality—Will Enforce Federal Game Laws.

(By United Press.)

Washington, Sept. 2.—Since the first case of foot-and-mouth disease found in a herd of hogs in Michigan, which later permitted the infection of the Chicago Stock Yards, hogs more than any other animal have been responsible for the spread of the disease, says the Department of Agriculture.

The susceptibility of swine to the foot-and-mouth disease, and the failure on the part of swine owners to recognize its symptoms are giving a Federal authorities no small amount of worry in their "clean-up" campaign.

Sore mouth, a common indication of the disease, is an ordinary sequence of hog cholera, and confusions of the feet are frequent in swine which have been driven or shipped. For these reasons, little attention is paid by the owners of swine to these symptoms, and unless the herd is located within suspicious territory foot and mouth disease may continue in a chronic form for a considerable length of time before discovery. The danger of course lies in the ability of these animals to disseminate the disease. A recent outbreak in Steuben county, New York, was traced to infected swine, which evidently had had the disease in a mild form for a considerable length of time. Infection had been carried from these to the cattle through drainage.

This emphasizes the need, the authorities state, for continued careful examination for all live stock in previously infected areas, especially large herds of swine. Farmers and stock raisers by giving immediate notice of any suspicious cases to the nearest health officer will greatly aid the authorities in their efforts to eliminate this pest, which if allowed to gain a foothold would result in untold damage to the nation.

Specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture who have been investigating the supply of crimson clover seed report there is apparently a larger supply than in any previous year, but that much of the seed is of poor quality. France and Austria normally supply the greater part of this seed used in the United States. In view of a threatened shortage owing to disturbance of the import trade, seed men, during the year ending June 30, 1915, secured as much seed as they could with the result that 12,000,000 pounds were imported from France as compared with 7,500,000 pounds the year previous. Much seed of poor quality was imported during May and June. Tests with several lots amounting to 1,000,000 pounds showed germination of only 29 per cent to 62 per cent. Farmers therefore, should make sure of the quality of the seed they buy. Crimson clover seed of a bright greenish yellow color usually germinate well, while a brownish color usually indicates poor germination. Lots containing brown seed should especially be tested for germination.

With the approach of the open season for shooting wild fowl, the United States Department of Agriculture is warning sportsmen that the Federal regulations as amended October 1, 1914, will be strictly enforced. The Department will consider any recommendations submitted in good faith for amendment of the regulations, but will hold no public hearings thereon, nor will it amend the regulations prior to October 18, 1915. It is the purpose of the Department to conform the regulations to the wishes of the majority of sportsmen so far as it can be done and at the same time give wild fowl the necessary protection.

Federal regulations divide the United States into two zones. Zone No. 1, the breeding zone, includes the States of Oregon, Idaho, Colorado, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey, and all States north of them. Zone No. 2, the wintering zone, includes all States south of those named.

Information as to the seasons during which migratory birds may be hunted can be secured from the State Game Warden, or from the Biological Survey, Washington, D. C.

MANY PRIZES WERE OFFERED

(By United Press.)

Noblesville, Ind., Sept. 2.—The men folks of Indiana went without hot meals today while Mary came here to join in the reunion of Hoosier Marys the first ever held.

Marys of high and low degree competed to win prizes for the prettiest Mary, the youngest and oldest Marys, the fattest and slimmest Marys the lightest and heaviest Marys, the newest married Mary and the Mary with the most children. One prize was for the Mary that came the longest distance.

This paralleled the annual reunion of Johns at Eaton, but promised to outshine the Eaton feature in the number present. During the day a number of men made a search for Mary of the "Vine Clad Cottage" but failed to find her.

DECLARE U-BOAT WAS CAPTURED

Officers of Liner Adriatic Assert Submarine Which Sunk Arabic Was Not Sunk as Reported

STORY IS FROM LIVERPOOL

They Suggest That Might be Reason For Hasty Decision to Accede to America's Demands.

(By United Press.)

New York, Sept. 2.—That the German submarine that sank the Arabic was captured, not sunk by British warships, was the story brought here today by an officer of the White Star liner Adriatic, who said that report was current in Liverpool.

"Right after the Arabic was sunk the report reached Liverpool that the U-boat has been captured," said the officer who asked that his name be withheld. "The story circulated in shipping circles was that she was one of the latest and most powerful of the German submarines. It was reported she carried two crews and had good sized guns upon her deck for shoaling vessels that tried to escape her."

"This story is generally believed by shipping men at Liverpool."

Adriatic officers agreed that the German government must have got wind of the report that the submarine had been captured. They suggested that might be the reason for the hasty decision to accede to this country's wishes.

The officers said also that the number of submarines captured or sunk far exceeds popular belief.

"We're getting them," said one. "We're getting them all sorts of ways. They have done a lot of damage, but the Von Tirpitz campaign on the whole has been a failure."

WATCH YOUR $50 BILLS NOW

Strangers With Large Assortment of Counterfeit Money Operating.

Rushville merchants are warned by the police authorities to make a good look at all $50 bills handed them. Strangers, evidently possessing a large number of counterfeit bills, are thought to be operating in this section of the state.

In Hartford City, Thursday afternoon, a stranger entered a business house and made a 25-cent purchase. He presented a bill purported to be of $50 value. Actions on the part of the man caused the proprietor of the store to become uneasy and he refused to give the change. The man took the bill in hand and, leaving his purchases, left the store, saying he would get the change and then return. He has not been seen since. The bill has the appearance of having originally been of $5 value.
